Large Replicas

Firm In S.S.F. Making Expo '70 Cable Cars

By BOB PETERSON

Visitors to Expo 70 in Osaka, Japan, will be riding motorized cable cars; San Francisco's "official exhibit" — built by a South San Francisco firm.

The Karl Koefoed Body Manufacturing Corporation, headed by Julius Koefoed and his son Bill, has hand-crafted four replicas of the original Sutter Street cars built in the 1800s. These vehicles will travel the one and only area at the exposition where moving vehicles are allowed.

According to the Koefoeds, the contract to construct the replicas was given to them after the San Francisco Committee for Participation in Expo 70 failed to receive what they considered reasonable bids for originally planned larger cars.

Charles Von Loewenfeldt, chairman of the executive committee of the San Francisco-Osaka Town Affiliation Committee, wrote the Kotfoed firm. (Osaka, incidentally, is San Francisco's sister city.)

"San Francisco will be uniquely represented (at Expo 70) by a small fleet of our renowned cable cars," stated Loewengeldt's letter. "The type of cable cars now operating in San Francisco are no longer being manufactured. Therefore, we must start from scratch."

Suffice it to say that after discussing costs, the price of $25,000 apiece was arrived at. "The other bids, for the larger type cable car, included Japanese firms and reached as high as $70,000," said the Koefoeds.

"We specialize in the small ones," said the elder Koefoed, whose ebullience was very evident in the son, too. "We started constructing the four going to Japan in earnest during the first part of this year."

The Koefoeds had a model, or "dummy," as the Sutter Street car is actually called, of one of only two in existence. "We dug it out of the mud outside Sonora back in the early '60s," said Koefoed. "It was so deteriorated," added Bill, "that if you were to push on the wood with your finger, your finger went right through."

From the dummy, the Koefoeds made the necessary molds, jigs and patterns. They now, obviously, can make their own "dummies."

The open-air car, which carried the cable grip, replaced the horse. It was called a dummy because these original cars didn't carry passengers. They were riding in a comfortable closed-cabin car behind the dummy.

Those four models going to Osaka, however, will be powered by six-cylinder flathead engines with automatic transmissions. Gas operated, and with rubber tires, they'll go at a pretty fair clip. But on the exposition grounds, governors will insure that the cars will maintain a continuous 5-mile-per-hour speed, both up and down hills as well as on level ground.

They are equipped with small wheels in the front and large wheels in the back, plus smog devices, safety straps and rear-view mirrors.

In addition, the safety-conscious Japanese have set up a signal light system to prevent the cable cars from running into one another. So the cable car's signal house, called a gazebo, also will be seen on the exposition grounds. Stop and go sig-

Adult Classrooms Dropped In S.S.F.

Adults attending adult education programs at the Magnolia building in South San Francisco will find their efforts to continue their education has met a snag today—because they do not have any classrooms.

The South San Francisco Unified School District Monday moved to immediately discontinue use of all facilities not conforming with the Field Act, on the basis of a letter received from the District Attorney's Office.

Deputy District Attorney L. M. Summey ruled that the Board and the individual board members could incur personal liability by continuing to use the Magnolia building and Baden High School, both of which were built prior to 1933.

What it all means according to District Superintendent Dr. Paul Nielsen is that some 600-700 persons who attend adult education classes here will be temporarily truant. That is, if they have been meeting in the Magnolia building.

The Continuation High School for special students in grades 9-12, which meets at Baden will only meet a minimum day, or until noon, for the duration of the week.

It will be decided sometime before next Monday whether the Continuation High School will be able to meet a full day by next

Coast Realtor In Another Blast At HRC

John J. Geary, president of the Pacifica-Coastside Board of Realtors, said this week he "resents being a 'whipping boy'," for the Human Relations Commission of San Mateo County.

Geary made the assertion—and others—in a letter to Sutart Leeb, chairman of the Human Relations Commission, on November 21.

His letter, Geary said, referred to Leeb's November 14 remarks concerning Geary's claims that he and the Pacifica-Coastside Board of Realtors were "insulted" by an HRC resolution regarding posting of fair housing signs in real estate offices.

The "insult" statements were made at a recent meeting of the Pacifica city council by Geary.

In his latest response, Geary also explained that he objected "to the fact that there apparently was no effort made to contact the real estate industry to request our cooperation."

He added, "Rather, the resolution prepared was sent to various city councils and the Board of Supervisors for their consideration and action without consulting us."

Geary reiterated that the real estate group could not claim discrimination had the HRC requested all other professional and commercial offices to post fair housing act signs.

In his letter earlier, Leeb had insisted there was "some misunderstanding" in the issue.

LEGAL AID SOCIETY

Discrimination Action Filed

By VIRGIL WILSON

A sordid picture of racial discrimination in San Mateo County is described in a series of affidavits on file in the United States District Court in San Jose.

The statements were filed by Lola P. Sheinfedl, staff lawyer of the Legal Aid Society of San Mateo County, in support of a motion for summary judgment in the case of Gussie Hayes versus the Housing Authority of San Mateo County.

In the case, the Legal Aid Society is challenging the constitutionality of the requirement that local referendum elections be held before federal housing projects can be built. The lawsuit declares that the provision has effectively stopped any housing programs for the poor in the county.

In submitting the motion for summary judgment, Miss Sheinfeld asked a three-judge panel to rule that Article 34 of the California Constitution is in violation of the Equal Protection and Supremacy clauses of the federal Constitution.

The Hayes case is consliadated with a similar case filed in Santa Clara County. The court suggested that counsel in that case also file a motion for summary judgment, that is, for a ruling without the necessity of a trial, so both can be ruled on simultaneously. There was no indication when the motion would be ruled upon.

In the motion Miss Sheinfeld stated that Mrs. Hayes and others listed as plaintiffs in the suit "are forced to live in insect and rodent-infested, over-crowded and rundown housing.

"No decent, safe and sanitary low-income housing is available to them . . . because of the operation of Article 34.

"Any referendum seeking approval of low-income housing in San Mateo County would be defeated by reason of racial and economic bias on the part of the voters. There exists throughout the county widespread racial discrimination in housing and fear of property devaluation occasioned by an influx of minority and low-income neighbors. It is for these reasons that the Housing Authority believes that a successful referendum would be impossible, and that it plans to call no such referendum.

"San Mateo County has a drastic need for low-income housing that is not being met, and cannot be met, by private enterprise."

Miss Sheinfeld told the court that the Housing Authority has a waiting list of 2,000 families qualified for housing assistance and that so many interviews with other applicants have been scheduled that they must be calendared three months ahead.

In one of the affidavits supporting the motion Elaine Eisenberg told of efforts of the Fair Housing Council to find housing for black families in 1965-7. Common reactions from realtors and homeowners, she said, were: "Wouldn't they be happier with their own people?" "I will show you where blacks can rent — in black ghetto areas." "I personally have no bias, but my neighbors would object." "My other tenants would move out."

"These discriminatory attitudes were and still are widespread throughout the county," she said.

Among other declarations:

Gay Leah Swenson, a director of the Fair Housing Council:

"Discriminatory practices today include prohibitive extra costs and requirements imposed on leases if blacks wish to rent, but not imposed for white applicants. Expression of concern for neighbors' feelings, and economic devaluation of property are still articulated as rationalizations for refusals to rent. There is an unwritten law that West of El Camino Real is verboten for blacks."

Janet Refvem of the Mid-Peninsula Christian Ministry:

"Removal of Article 34 would at least give the poor and the minority the chance to have a decent life."

San Bruno Rezone Bid Turned Down

A rezoning request that would have permitted an apartment complex in San Bruno was denied by councilmen Monday night 3-2.

The request of Gordon Hanson, representing Challenge Homes, was to rezone a section on the west side of Sneath Lane at Monterey Drive.

The councilmen's decision undoubtedly was swayed by the impassioned pleas of nearby residents. It also went against a unanimous decision of the planning commissioners.

Prior to the meeting, even letters of protest were received. Three of these letter writers appeared before the councilmen, plus four other persons who wrote no letters of protest.

Hanson was the first to appear before the councilmen. He explained that the property in question had been zoned as multiple residential for several years and inadvertantly had been rezoned into single family residential along with other sections of Portola Highlands.

"I've been paying taxes on it as if it were zoned for multiple family zoning," said Hanson. "I've also sent an informational letter to everyone in the area to keep them informed of the fact that I intended to build apartments on this site."

This statement brought clarifying responses.

NO JOLLY ST. NICK IN BRUNO

Is it possible the recent moon visit fouled up the airwaves?

That direct line to Jolly Saint Nick seems to have been cut off somewhere between the North Pole and San Bruno.

It's really serious. According to Kit Menkin, chamber manager, he was supposed to have confirmed Santa's visit to San Bruno on Saturday.

"I've called everywhere. Done everything I can think of to contact either Santa Clause or one of his helpers."

"He's never failed in the past," said Menkin. "I just wish Santa, or one of his helpers would contact me at the chamber office."

We'd all rest easier Santa, ya hear?

THOSE MOTORCYCLES!

The Problem That Isn't One Still Is There, But...

Remember that motorcycle problem in San Bruno? Well, it's still there, yet it isn't. And when it is, the police can't do anything about it, because it's either outside their jurisdiction, or the streets aren't posted.

Councilmen Monday night decided to ask the County Sheriff's Department to patrol the area, and also to request property owners to allow another area to be posted so arrests can be made.

The action followed a report by Police Chief Russell Cunningham on complaints received by residents in the vicinity of the Comaroto Honda motorcycle shop at 1776 El Camino Real.

In one paragraph, the report said:

"Be advised that the vast majority of observations made during the past two weeks have indicated no violations being committed on the nearby streets, nor on the Comaroto property."

In another paragraph, it read:

In order to test motorcycles, either the help or customers occasionally operate their vehicle on Santa Lucia Avenue, accelerating at a fast rate of speed, all of which does disturb the residents in the area." Santa Lucia is not posted.

The report also noted that at times much noise comes from the shop area while mechanics are testing motors. The testing requires that the motors be run at high speeds intermittently.

Chief Cunningham pointed out that his personal feeling is that it is a poor policy to have a motorcycle shop and residences so close together.

"The complaint of the use of old San Francisco right-of-way cannot be blamed entirely on the Comaroto shop," said the chief's report. "Some of the riding is done by citizens who are riding their own motorcycles for their own enjoyment."

The right-of-way is not within the city limits, therefore the policing responsibility of the Sheriff's Department. —B.P.

D.C. Council In Whirlwind Monday Meet

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The Daly City council moved on more than a score of agenda items in a whirlwind session Monday night before going behind closed doors to discuss a personnel matter.

It was assumed the council would discuss the recent Personnel Board recommendations concerning an appeal filed by police officer William Moeller. The officer was suspended for two days in July and the Board recommended that the suspension be lifted and a letter of reprimand be instituted instead.

Council conclusions on the matter are expected to be made public on December 8.

In other action, George Kirchhubel, a Mission street tavern owner, asked that the city study the possibility of sweeping the streets in the business area on Sunday morning.

Kirchhubel said the street cleaners now sweep the street early weekday mornings, however cars parked along Mission

Fact-Finding Unit Submits A Report

By WILL E. THOMAS

A three-man NEA-CTA fact-finding team, learning on a two-day mission to Daly City and Pacifica last week that teachers had "great frustration" over transfer policies in the Jefferson Union High School District, has urged swift action on the district's part to devise an "acceptable" transfer policy.

Filing their report with the district and its teachers were Roy Archibald, NEA; Quentin Mason and Herb Foreman, CTA.

The report is six pages long and deals with four primary items: teacher assignments and transfers, district finances and enrollment figures.

District Supt. Edward Morgan, who said he had only a brief opportunity to review the report Monday, declined lengthy comment.

Even though the fact-finding mission was undertaken by two educational organizations at the joint request of Jefferson District AFT and CTA teacher-representing units, the report did not appear to be either a scathing denounciation of district goings-on, or, as Morgan put it, "rough on us."

The district and two organizations are battling over a transfer policy in Negotiating Council currently.

Basic recommendations of the fact finding team:

1—Swift adoption of an "acceptable transfer policy. A well-developed, well-understood transfer policy will contribute greatly to the smooth-running operation of the district in the future. The avoidance of problems, such as the recent transfer controversy (because, the district said, pupil-teacher ra-

Six 'Lucky Licenses' Win Money

A total of $300 was awarded to six daily winners in The Times' "Lucky License" contest during the first week of play.

Mrs. Frederick Beland Jr., Edward Paulson, George Terada and Mario Picchi, all of San Mateo, claimed daily prizes as did Fred Wright of Belmont and Mrs. Helen Pearson of Brisbane.

Each daily winner claimed $50 after The Times mystery phographer snapped their license plate. Included in each prize was a $25 bonus because all of them were also Times subscribers.

The Times "Lucky License" contest will continue for another five weeks during which time daily prizes will be offered.

At the conclusion of the contest all daily winners will be eligible for the $500 grand prize to be given to a randomly selected daily winner.

Persons can obtain extra "Lucky License" bumper strips from any of The Times' four offices in Daly City, Burlingame, San Mateo or Redwood City.

the Fair Housing Council:

"My personal experience with dozens of apartment house managers, apartment house owners, real estate brokers and salesmen, and residential building contractors has indicated that racial discrimination in housing in San Mateo County has been and continues to be almost universally present among persons in the housing industry."

Brad Reese, member of several organizations at work on the housing problem: "Owners and landlords are now aware that the law is against them, so they are subtly evasive. There are no outright refusals but, instead, fishy stories. Blacks are continually told that apartments were just rented, even though later checks reveal that they are still available; owners don't open the door when they see that blacks are ringing the doorbell; realtors require black persons to go through long, detailed credit checks, and don't require the same for white applicants; they also claim no one is available to show an apartment, or claim the apartment keys have been misplaced. The worst practice occurs when landlords ask black applicants very personal, probing questions which invariably cause the applicants to leave. Many blacks are so discouraged that they give up trying.

"I would not expect any community in this county to vote for a low-income housing project; the poor and the black are very distasteful to the white middle class. This would apply as well to Mexican-Americans. I don't know how it will be possible to provide housing for the poor unless Article 34 of the California Constitution were no longer on the books."

Dr. Haven Richard Doane, chairman of the Council of Churches Housing Development Corporation:

"Six months ago I wished to sell my own home in the county. I asked a realtor to place an ad listing it along with a statement that all persons could buy regardless of race. He refused to do so, stating that he would be in trouble with the realtors organization, and that other persons would refuse to list their properties with him — and this was a man who was rather sympathetic to the problems."

John Rutherford, chairman of the Urban Coalition Task Force on Fair Housing: "My personal experience with the black ghetto in East Palo Alto shows that houses are overpriced and overcrowded, roads are bad and municipal services are deplorable. Unless public housing is provided, these people cannot move out and better their living conditions."

Emily Marks Skolnick, vice chairman of the city of San Mateo's Human Relations Commission and member of many fair housing and civil rights groups:

"A referendum in this county on public housing would absolutely fail because of prejudice against all blacks and the poor. The black ghetto in the city of San Mateo is presently overpriced, overcrowded, and has a zero vacancy factor. The housing situation there, and elsewhere in the county, is critical. I want the removal of Article 34 because I care about providing decent, safe and sanitary housing for the poor, and I am against all discrimination in housing."

Shopping Center Executives Disclose Most Store Hours

Executives of the North County's major shopping complexes and managers of the chambers of commerce for the convenience of the area's shoppers have announced their general business hours.

They follow:

Westlake Shopping Center — Most stores: 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., daily; 11 a.m.-5 p.m., Sundays.

Fairmont Shopping Center — Grocery, drug center, 9 a.m.-9 p.m., Monday through Saturday; 11 a.m. 5 p.m., Sundays.

Serramonte Shopping Center — Most stores, 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday; 11 a.m.-5 p.m., Sundays.

San Bruno Rezone Bid Turned Down

Moreland Dr., a letter writer, said she thought a medical-dental building was going to be constructed on this site.

Robert Hailey, of 120 San Joaquin Court, outside the 300 foot "concerned resident" limit, said he had been told the site would contain a church in the future.

"The (sales) agent told me they were going to build a church there," said R. E. Boff, of 120 Alameda Place. "I also was told that soil conditions at this site were not favorable for anything other than single family development."

Hector M. Gonzales, of 3251 Sneath Lane, sort of tied the three previous speaker's statements together. "I was told it would be either a church, a medical building or a park," said Gonzales.

"When I asked if apartments were going to be built in the area, I got a 'God forbid' reaction," said G. Lemberger, of 230 Lassen Dr.

Mrs. F. A. Hendrickson, of 100 Alameda Place, also a letter writer, was the most vocal. Her house is adjacent to the proposed apartment complex site.

"All of us were misled. So far, the only advantage pointed out is that to him (Hanson), not the homeowner.

"It is illogical to think that I would purchase a corner piece of property on a cul-du-sac, knowing that an apartment complex would be built next to it.

"Furthermore," states Mrs. Hendrickson, "we were told that if we didn't sign the releases (what Hanson referred to as an informational letter) we couldn't buy the property. We relied on the salesman's word."

In supporting Hanson's proposed complex, Councilman Maurice Hamilton said, "I understand their (the residents) expressed concerns. Their fears are groundless. Apartments are an asset to the city."

He confirmed Hanson's statement that the property had previously been zoned for multiple residential. Hamilton also pointed out that a previous request for apartments by Hanson had been turned down because he had asked for 70 units.

"This plan calls for 42 units," said Hamilton, "with more than sufficient parking and open space. It's a good plan and I don't see how it would be detrimental to the homeowners."

Councilman Karney Barberian seconded a motion by Hamilton to approve the complex. Councilman George Corey didn't agree.

"This is a self-contained area," said Corey, "a subcommunity within the city. I feel the people living there should have as much to say as possible about the type of community in which they live."

Corey said the confusion among homeowners concerning what would be constructed on the property was an honest error on the part of Challenge Homes.

Councilman George Ingham had no comment, but concurred with Corey.

"That gives me the deciding vote," said Mayor Neil Christal.

Manufacturer In S.S.F. Making Cable Cars

nals within these houses control the cable car traffic.

The four cable cars whose physical size is 8x16 and 10-foot tall will be sponsored by individual companies. At this point, they are unknown. But one item of interest is that the Japanese will allow only a very small amount of personal advertising. Therefore, the names of the sponsors will have to be painted onto the ribbon-design on the front of the cars.

This lettering, and some final painting, is all that remains to be done before the cars are shipped to Japan.

"I'm making a whole box of spare parts," said Koefoed, "because I'm afraid of damage during shipment." He said he would like to box each car individually for the ride over, but realizes that's out of the question. The company that will do the shipping indicated they would make special sling-type loading platforms. The cable cars also will be anchored to the floor.

Shipment is scheduled for January. The exposition dates are from March 15 through September 13. In February Koefoed will take a trip over to "evaluate any damage during shipment."

He expects to take at least two trips prior to the actual opening day to explain such things as how to repair lights, assemble necessary accessories, and "how to ring the bell."

Son Bill also will be in Japan. He, however, will be there during Expo 70's operation, as part of the San Francisco Businessmen's Goodwill Tour group. Some 100 San Francisco executives are expected to spend a week in Japan during the exposition.

"I doubt that these four cable cars will come back from Japan," said Koefoed, referring to the fact that many cities, business firms and rail fans throughout the world are eager to purchase San Francisco's "junked" cable cars at any price.

The San Francisco Municipal Railway, however, needs every car it can get. They have a regular car re-building program, with no cars likely to be available for sale.

"Many of the original larger cable cars taken off the line were mounted on trucks," said Koefoed. "In the old days, cable car makers used to compete with each other like mad. Myself, when I have nothing to do, I build cable cars."

He said his firm has restored a lot of the larger models, but never built one. Like the smaller car going to Japan, they would have to be built from scratch.

"That's a slow tedious job," said Koefoed. "We built these (four) by hand. All the wood was steam bent and the iron work was done like the old blacksmith used to do it."

Obviously cable car buffs, Koefoed and his son, who wrote a paper "which wasn't even a college requirement" because he was so interested, also aided the Expo 70 promotion within the United States.

They were responsible for the conversion of two tractor trailers, and installation of Expo 70 exhibits into them, which traveled the United States and Canada from July through September this year.

The caravans, consisting of two trucks, visited 42 cities to promote the exposition.

Koefoed's next project is to build a Powell Street cable car. "I've always wanted to build one of them," he said. "There were originally five styles, four remain."

As far as his involvement with the Expo 70 activities are concerned, he spoke proudly of the fact that he and his son's picture will appear on the official Expo 70 program, part of a group shot.

"That's pretty nice, 15 million people looking at us on the program. That's what I think about when I sit back and light my cigar," said Koefoed, as he sat back and lit his cigar.

Bill leaned back, too, and smiled.

City Ponders Annexation Of Property

Possible annexation proceedings to ensure that all of the proposed Pan Am commissary near the airport will be built on San Bruno property is being studied by City Atty. Joe Galligan.

Councilmen passed the item along to Galligan after a brief mention of it during the pre-council caucus session Monday night.

City Mgr. Gerard Vergeer said a legal description of the property is being prepared. Most of the proposed building site is on San Bruno property. Estimates of that belonging to San Francisco are from two-thirds to one-quarter.

It also was mentioned that the airline people are desirous in knowing whether the city will provide "normal city services" until such time as the property is formally annexed.

Councilmen indicated this could possibly be done.

street hinder the cleaning. There are few cars in evidence on Sundays, he said.

City manager Dave Rowe said the city would look into the situation and report back to the council.

The council instructed Rowe to study several proposed amendments to the city's zoning ordinance on cemeteries.

One section of the proposed ordinance—under "definition of cemetery" — brought objections from both Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett and councilman Michael DeBernardi.

Lycett said the paragraph included mortuaries, along with chapels, crypts and flower shops.

The mayor, owner of a Daly City mortuary, said later he felt inclusion of such mortuaries in the amendment might do irreparable harm to those business mortuaries now operating throughout San Mateo and San Francisco counties that have provided services to Colma-Daly City area cemeteries for decades.

"I know it will sound like I have a selfish interest in this, however I do not think we should start a precedent here and end up having our cemeteries looking like Forest Lawn in Los Angeles with its many retail activities on cemetery property," the mayor explained.

DeBernardi's objections were aimed at retail businesses on zoned cemetery lands and pointed out this might deprive the city of tax revenues (cemeteries are exempt from most taxes).

Observers felt the new tight restrictions contained in the ordinance are aimed at the Chinese cemetery inasmuch as it is the only one in the area being discussed.

Other businesses approved for cemetery zoning would include homes for persons working on the cemetery; maintenance sheds and office buildings.

Belmont Man Final Victor

Collins wins two tickets to the 49ers-Chicago Bears game on Saturday, Dec. 6, for correctly selecting the winning team in 13 of 15 games played last weekend.

Two other contestants also picked 13 winning teams but did not come as close to the total yardage of the 49ers as did Collins. His estimate was within 20 yards of the 49er total in their losing game against New Orleans.

This marks the conclusion of the annual football contest for this year.

7—Associations (AFT, CTA) should give greater publicity to adopted grievance procedures and explain to members "what a grievance consists of."

8—Reorganization by the district of procedures for projecting enrollments, and methods for procuring actual enrollment during the first week or two of school should be devised.

9—Teachers should not be assigned to areas outside of their major or major minor fields unless the teacher agrees.

The panel said it was concerned over "the serious disruption to the educational program of the district."

Its members said it recognized that "the transfers in question were a traumatic experience on district personnel — one that, hopefully, will not occur again."

An in-depth study was not possible, it was pointed out.

"Two days in the district was not sufficient to cover all aspects of finance, ethics, enrollment, transfers, etc.," the panel declared.

Capuchino Offers First Production

Capuchino High School will present its first production of the year Friday and Saturday, December 5 and 6.

The play will be the farce, "See How They Run," by Philip King. Ric Nazarenus, the new drama teacher at Capuchino will direct the play.

Rehearsals have been in full swing since the beginning of October. Tickets have gone on sale at $1 for adults, 75 cents for students with student body cards, and 25 cents for children under 12. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from Diane Selph or Tati Gay.

Lone Bandit Robs D.C. Bank Of $840

A lone bandit walked into a Daly City bank November 18, demanded all of one teller's money and walked away, quietly, with $840.

It was 2:20 p.m. when a "white male adult" entered the 6298 Mission Street branch of the Bank of America and walked up to a teller's window.

No one saw a gun, according to a Daly City Police Department spokesman, but the suspect simulated a weapon, placing his right hand in a jacket pocket, after presenting a teller with a note demanding, "Miss, I have a gun. Put your bills in the bag and you won't get hurt."

The man, reportedly between 35 and 38 years of age, 5-feet, 10-inches tall and of medium build, was holding a brown paper bag in his left hand. However, police said, he did not use it.

Instead, when the teller offered all the money from her cash drawer, the suspect grabbed the money in one hand and walked out of the bank.

Apparently, only the teller knew what was happening. Detectives indicated others in the bank had noted the suspect, but did not know he was bent on, or had robbed the teller, who was not identified.

A passerby outside the bank told police had seen a man running up Wellington, but the authorities said there was no guarantee that was the bank robber.

Even had he taken that route — past the former city hall, now a county office and courts building — the suspect had a choice of several directions in which to flee from that point, one policeman explained.

Scores of policemen, arriving on the scene, were unable to locate the suspect.

Deadlock Is Broken By SSF Planner

Nello Lazzeri, South San Francisco planning commissioner who was absent from the commission's regular meeting, last Monday broke a tie in favor of Caesar-Callan Homes, Inc.

The commissioners were meeting in special session after their regular session November 10 ended in a stalemate as to a request of Caesar-Callan Homes to reclassify a 2-acre parcel from multiple family residential to commercial zoning.

Food For Needy

THIS IS WHAT all the canned goods for the needy that were collected by the youth of Pacifica's Seventh-day Adventist Church looked like when all stacked up for delivery. In all, 479 articles of food and $11.48 were collected to benefit the coastside community's Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner baskets for the needy. Five adults chapereoned 17 children, some of whom are pictured: Shelley Bradshaw, Bruce Bruner, Bob Francis and Marsha Buckheit, Debby and Gale Chaney, Eric and Mike Rising, Clyve, Andrew and Clair Sutton, Wendy and Bill Vail, Fred and Eddie Wilson and Dale Woodworth.

S. Bruno Auto Dealers Unite

Leading San Bruno automobile dealers held a meeting at Eureka Federal Savings to form a Peninsula-wide association, and through the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, are planning an informal San Bruno association.

"The main message they want to get across is their tax contribution to the City of San Bruno," Chamber Manager Christopher ("Kit") Menkin said.

"The auto dealers contribute most of their tax dollars to the residents of San Bruno."

According to the California State Franchise Tax Board, in the second quarter of last year, San Bruno automobile sales tax contribution was almost $5 million dollars, half of the city's entire taxable business transactions, Menkin said.

Banners Are Used In Rites At Bethlehem

Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 533 Hickey Boulevard, Pacifica, will hold its annual Thanksgiving Day Family Worship Service at 10 a.m., announced the pastor, M. Douglas Swendseid.

Holy Communion will be celebrated.

Nursery care will be provided for infants.

Today's theme will be dramatized through the use of colorful, decorative banners. Banners in modern design have recently come into increased use in churches as aids to worship, especially on festive occasions such as Thanksgiving, the pastor explains.

Words and symbols are cut from felt and other materials and attached to brightly colored burlap and corduroy. Carried in processions and placed in the sanctuary of the church, they become visual symbols which help everyone to recall the significant events which are being celebrated in the worship service.

At Bethlehem Lutheran Church today, two 10-foot banners will be used to decorate the front of the church; smaller banners will be carried in procession.

The public is invited.

Thanksgiving Rites Slated At Redeemer's

Visitors are invited to worship with the members of Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church at a special Thanksgiving Day service today at 10 a.m.

Special music will be presented by the Girls' Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Lorene Harter, in honor of this national day of giving thanks to the Lord.

The service will be conducted by The Reverend Bill G. Willms, whose sermon topic is "Thank You, Jesus!"

Nursery service is provided at the church, located at Southwood Drive and El Camino Real in South San Francisco.

S.S.F. Police Charge Man In Burglary

An unemployed tanner has been booked by South San Francisco police on suspicion of burglaring the firm from which he was at one time employed.

Daryl Lee Hegdahl, 21, of 329 Lux Avenue, South San Francisco, was arrested by officers Mike Morello and Jim Cooper on November 19.

Police said the officers responded to an alarm at 325 S. Maple Avenue where they saw someone with a bundle of processed leather hides over his shoulder.

Officers Morello and Cooper said that when the suspect saw them, he said, "whoops," and dropped the hides.

S.S.F. Woman Suffers Burns

A 74-year-old South San Francisco woman November 18 suffered possible first degree burns of the arms when she picked up a hot pan full of blazing grease.

Mrs. Clara Eire was taken to Kaiser Hospital after she was burned by grease that became overheated as she prepared to cook French fries at 5 p.m.

About $200 damage was caused, according to South San Francisco firemen.

'Faith Cometh By Hearing' Is Westside Church Topic

"Faith Cometh By Hearing" is the sermon topic chosen by Pastor Dave Donnelly of the Westside Baptist Church for the 11 a.m. Worship Hour message. This is another in the series of messages from I. Peter. Special music will be provided for this service.

A Primary Church designed for boys and girls four through seven years of age is conducted each Sunday morning, during the Morning Worship Hour. This program is directed by Misses Sylvia Stumph and Sandra Porter, students at Simpson Bible College in San Francisco.

At 9:45 a.m., 14 age-graded, Bible-centered classes meet for instruction and fellowship. During this study hour, Pastor Donnelly is conducting a pastor's class for adults and youth.

The Rev. Lowell Hendricksen, newly appointed Director of Christian Education for the Northern California Baptist Conference, will be the guest speaker at the 7 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour. Rev. Hendricksen is a graduate of Bethel College and Seminary, and just prior coming to this new post, was Western Area Director for Bethel College and Seminary of St. Paul, Minnesota. Prior to that he was a Sales Representative for the Texas Oil Company in North and South Dakota.

At 6:15 p.m. three youth groups meet weekly. Junior Astronauts, for boys and girls fourth through sixth grades; Junior High CYF and Senior High CYF. During this hour also a Girls Missionary Guild for primary girls of second and third grade in school is held. This program is directed by Mrs. Ann Besser, assisted by Miss Diane Swedberg.

Bible Study Hour will be at 7:30 p.m. today. Pastor Donelly is to begin a new study, "Salvation and Behavior," at the church parsonage, 3370 Longview Drive, San Bruno.

Pacifica, DC 'Witnesses' Plan Journey

Francis D. Malaspina, circuit supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses in San Francisco and the Peninsula announced that several residents of Pacifica and Daly City will appear on the program of their upcoming Bible conference at the Oakland Auditorium, December 5-7.

Carl B. Deaton, presiding minister of the Pacifica Congregation, will open the gathering with interviews of Bay Area ministers.

Wynn and Barbara Scarlett and their daughters Cindy and Jenny appear as a family group to demonstrate the theme, "Help Members of Your Family to Learn the Truth." High school students Fred Featherstone, Jr., and Dan Zwiep will have a share in the discussion, "I'm So Thankful for the Family Study."

All are residents of Pacifica.

Take Your Toys To Fire Station

Members of the community who plan to contribute toys to children of the needy this Christmas should have no problem in finding a convenient toy depot to which they may bring their gifts, reports Mrs. John von Almen, Chairman of the Community Christmas Bureau.

Mrs. von Almen announced that Fire Stations in most cities throughout the County will serve as collection centers for toys this year, in cooperation with the traditional "Toys for Tots" program conducted annually by the U.S. Marines Reserve, and with the Christmas Bureau.

Mrs. von Almen stated that the following communities will have Fire Stations participating: Burlingame ,three stations; Hillsborough, three; Belmont, three; Redwood City, four; San Mateo, six; Foster City ,one. In San Carlos collections will be made at the Central Fire Station. The Woodside, Millbrae, South San Francisco and Menlo Park Fire Departments will also participate. In addition, the Marines will also collect toys from the McDonalds Hamburger stands, and from most of the schools throughout the County. And, of course, toys may also be brought directly to the Christmas Bureau when it opens its doors on December 1 at the Naval Reseve Training Center, Baldwin Avenue, and San Mateo Drive, San Mateo. Toys collected by the Marines are all deposited with the Christmas Bureau for distribution among needy children throughout the County. For such children this is the only means through which Santa Claus may pay them a visit.

"We hope for new or next to new toys," Mrs. von Almen said, explaining that so many toys have arrived in the past in such sad condition they had to be discarded as soon as they arrived at the Christmas Bureau — games with parts missing, dolls with eyes punched in, and battered faces, rusty trucks with wheels missing. There is always a particular shortage of dolls and wheel goods, she added.

The Christmas Bureau, which serves as the official coordinating agency for Christmas giving to the needy of San Mateo County is also extending a plea for money, merchandise orders, food, clothing, bed linens, and many other items. Persons interested in making a contribution may call or write Community Christmas Bureau, P. O. Box 54, San Mateo.

Fire Damages Bruno House

A vacant, but fully furnished home was damaged on Monday in San Bruno when fire of undetermined origin swept through a portion of a basement garage.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor at 756 Green Avenue at 3:56 a.m.

Though flame was confined to the basement, there was smoke damage throughout, a fire department source said. An estimated $3,000 structural damage was caused. Loss to the contents has not been determined, inasmuch as items in the front portion of the basement are "just ashes at this point," the spokesman explained.

A camper-truck was pulled out of the garage before it was damaged, and the fire did not reach a car parked to the rear.

However, flame made its way up through a hardwood floor into the living room, causing some damage, other than smoke, in that one area.

Firemen said the home apparently is in the hands of R. E. Haddon of Los Angeles.

The previous owner, said to be Haddon's stepfather, died last October.

Warehouseman Robbed In Bruno

Using a screwdriver as a weapon, shortly after midnight last night two men in San Bruno robbed a 34-year-old warehouseman of an estimated $32 in cash.

It was the third armed robbery on the streets of San Bruno in as many days (nights).

James G. Forsell, of 512 Vista Court, Millbrae, told police he had parked his vehicle in an all-night restaurant parking lot at 751 San Bruno Avenue.

He said that after locking the door and turning around he was confronted by two men. They were identified as 25-year-old Negroes. One, 6-foot-2 and wearing a black turtleneck sweater, was said to weigh bout 190 pounds.

The second suspect was described as being about 5-foot-10 and weighting 165 pounds. He wore red pants, a red and white shirt and possibly a wig, as he had shoulder-length hair.

Forsell told police the one suspect held a 12-inch screwdriver against him, saying, "Hey, man. You got any cash." Forsell handed over his wallet. Apparently not satisfied, the suspect said, "Open up your car. Maybe you got some cash in your glove compartment."

According to the police report, the second suspect then took the screwdriver and pried open the glove compartment.

Another car driving into the parking lot hastened the suspects' activities. They drove away in a red and white convertible.

Adult Classrooms Dropped In S.S.F.

week. "It all depends on whether the portable classrooms will be ready," Dr. Nielsen said.

Meanwhile, adults who have classes which already meet in portable classrooms may continue to attend classes. Currently, there are four portable classrooms used for this purpose, and they will continue to be used.

In other business, three parents whose children attend Alta Loma Junior High School complained that teachers at the school had worn armbands and leafleted outside of school grounds last Nov. 14, the day before moritorium day.

Two parents alleged that their children had been threatened, one threatened to be beaten and the other was actually barred from the lunchroom in incidents stemming from the war protest.

The Superintendent said he could do nothing about the wearing of armbands by students or the passing out leaflets before school hours and off school grounds by teachers.

In other developments, Bob Gehl, Head of the S.S.F. American Federation of Teachers presented a proposal that all school administrators who hold a teaching credential teach one hour or more per day. He cited four reasons for the proposal:

— To save the district money.

— Help administrators keep in touch with "problems of the classroom."

— Demonstrate to teachers that administrators are willing to do what they themselves ask teachers to do.

— Demonstrate to students and the public that the "most important activity in the school takes place, not in the school office, but in the classroom."

The Board did not act upon the proposal.

San Brunan Hit, Killed By Truck

A tube of hair cream cost a San Francisco man his life Thursday in South San Francisco, near the intersection of South Spruce Avenue and El Camino Real.

Merrill Anderson, 27, of 701 Mills Avenue, San Bruno, was being taken into a department store office to answer a minor shoplifting charge at about 11 a.m. when he broke loose and was crushed beneath the wheels of a bunker truck, police said today.

According to reports, the victim had apparently been seen taking a $1.19 tube of hair cream from a discount store and walking away without any intention of paying for it.

When approached by a store employe, the suspect began running down the store's driveway toward Spruce Avenue.

Police said he was caught and being taken back to the office when he broke away a second time. This effort included an attempt to jump onto the running board of a passing dirt hauling truck and trailer.

Police said Alan George Turner, 30, of 2245 Thirty-third Avenue, San Francisco, was going east on South Spruce Avenue at about 20 miles an hour when he saw two men running down the discount store driveway.

He told police he felt something hit the passenger door of the truck. Turner applied the brakes. He looked through the sideview mirror and saw the front wheels of the rear trailer run over the victim.

Anderson was taken to Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, where he died Thursdty at approximately 8 p.m.

San Brunan Is Booked In Burglary

A 37-year-old San Bruno longshoreman has been booked on suspicion of burglary and possession of narcotics by the South San Francisco police.

Officer James Kuskie, on routine foot patrol of the downtown business district, arrested John William Popin Jr., of 714 First Avenue at approximately 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Walking along the 300 block of Third Lane, Kuskie noticed a man get out of a parked truck, walk over to a parked car and lift up the hood.

As he approached the suspect to see what was happening, a walkie-talkie message informed him that the truck was reported as being stolen.

Furthermore, the suspect, who told officer Kuskie that his car wouldn't start, fit the description of the person who reportedly stole the truck.

Officer Kuskie took the suspect into custody. A search of the man at the police station revealed him to be in possession of marijuana and dangerous drugs.

Congregation B'nai Israel Joins Other Temples Today

Congregation B'nai Israel today at 10:45 a.m. will join with the major temples in San Francisco for the Tenth Annual San Francisco Bay Area Jewish Community's Thanksgiving Service sponsored by the San Francisco Council of Rabbis at Temple Sherith Israel, California and Webster Streets, San Francisco.

Featured on the program entitled, "A Day for Thanksgiving and for Mutual Concern," will be federal Judge Gerald S. Levin, a Cantor's Ensemble and the Junior Choirs of the participating congregations.

Sabbath Services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel tomorrow at 8:30 p.m., with Rabbi Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Henry Greenberg officiating.

Birthday Sabbath will be observed that evening at which time those Sunday School students celebrating their birthdays during November will be honored. To be called to the pulpit for a blessing and a gift will be Mark Cleaner, Lisa Levine, Dennis Mayer, Laurie Veprin and Randolph Weber.

The Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel will hold a Chanukah Meeting December 1, at the Templehouse, beginning at 8:15 p.m. A short business meeting presided over by president Mrs. Gerald Fox will be followed by a program arranged by program chairman Mrs. Stanley Fisher.

Featured will be a candlelighting concerning the Chanukah Holiday by Rabbi Shore and a Chanukah song-fest with Cantor Greenberg.

Action on the request of Broadmoor residents seeking incorporation of that area into a new city for a waiver of time in reconsidering the matter has been continued by the County Local Agency Formation Commission to its December 17 meeting.

The commission indicated Thursday it needs more information concerning revenue, expense, assessed valuation, population, land use, community services and costs of operation before deciding whether to proceed with a new incorporation hearing.

An earlier incorporation proposal was denied by the commission last June. Law requires that at least one year lapse before a new hearing can be held, unless the commission agrees to a waiver of the time period.

That was requested by incorporation proponents after the commission later approved withdrawal of a proposal for annexation of the Broadmoor area to Daly City.

DEATHS

MARIE NEHEGAN

Marie M. Nehegan, 56, of 131 Angelita, Pacifica, died yesterday in San Mateo. A native of San Francisco, she had lived in Pacifica for seven years.

Surviving are two children, Robert, of South San Francisco and Dorothy Norling, of Pacifica, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will begin at 8:30 a.m. Friday at Nauman and Lincoln Chapel by the Sea in Pacifica, thence to the Church of the Good Shepherd for requiem mass at 9 a.m. Rosary will be recited at the mortuary chapel at 8 o'clock tonight. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

LINDA LEE MORTIMER

Linda Lee Mortimer, 14, daughter of Mrs. Betty Mortimer, 219 San Benito Avenue, San Bruno, died Tuesday at Peninsula Hospital after a sudden illness.

She was a native of San Francisco, and a local resident all her life.

Survivors include her mother, and a brother David William.

Friends may call at Chapel of the Highlands until noon Friday. Private funeral services will be held Friday at 1 p.m., with interment at Golden Gate National Cemetery.

THEODORE HART

Theodore R. Hart, 40, died Friday at his home, 3861 Elston Drive, San Bruno. A native of Monrovia, Calif., he had lived in this area for seven years. He was a sales engineer for Avionics Liaison.

Surviving are his wife, Darlene, and three children, Julie, Steven and Susan, all of San Bruno, his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Hart, of Grass Valley and a brother, Russell.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 11:15 a.m. at the Chapel of The Highlands in Millbrae.

DINO MIRRI

Dino J. Mirri, 60, 651 Boden Avenue, South San Francisco, died early Friday at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco after an illness. He was a local resident 21 years, and was a native of Italy.

He was a member of the Boilermakers Union.

Survivors include his wife, Elvera; a son, Terry J. Mirri, South San Francisco; two daughters, Mrs. Dolores Lambert, Denver, and Mrs. Vallory Demko, Lexington, Mass.; a sister, Mrs. Vi Baldwin, New Jersey, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday at 9:30 a.m. at the Nauman & Lincoln Chapel, then to All Souls Catholic Church for requiem mass at 10 a.m. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. Rosary was recited at the chapel Sunday.

KJARTAN CHRISTOPHERSON

Funeral services were conducted Monday at the Duggan Serra Mortuary in Daly City or Kjartan Christopherson if San Francisco who died at Peninsula Hospital.

He was 81.

He had lived at 11 Westgate Drive in San Francisco until his retirement several years ago. A native of Canada, he is survived by nine children, one of whom is a noted Bay Area singer. Mrs. Norman Keller of Hillsborough, whose professional name is Eileen Christy, has sung on television and with Arthur Fiedler's Pops concert and at several San Francisco light operas.

Other children include:

Lilja Costello, Caroline McLaughlin and Dorothy Cartwright all of Hillsborough, and sons Lorne, Theodore, Sigurdur, Henry and William Christopherson.

He is also survived by 21 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Brother of Susie Brynjolfson, he was a long time member of the San Francisco Real Estate Board.

Entombment was at Woodmen.

JOHN C. DAVIS

Cremation was held for John C. Davis, 60 of 2860 Fleetwood Drive, San Bruno, Thursday at the Patterson and O'Connell Chapel by the Wayside, San Mateo. Davis was found dead at his San Bruno residence on November 14, from natural causes.

Car Wreck On Freeway Kills Youth

A San Francisco youth was killed and two companions were injured at 1:30 a.m. on Sunday when a car flipped off of Junipero Serra Freeway in South San Francisco and landed on its top.

Dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital was Michael J. Hajewski, 18, who was thrown from the auto as it tumbled dowr an embankment.

Injured were Kathy Hartje, 14, of 124 Avalon Drive, South San Francisco, and John Chadwick, 17, of San Francisco.

Highway Patrolman John Woodcock and Jim Borchart said the accident happened south of the Westborough overcrossing where the freeway narrows from four lanes to two adn goes into a slight curve.

The sedan, driven by Rajewski, came into the curve too fast, the officers reported, and skidde out of control and off of the roadway.

The survivors said Rajewski was driving the Hartje girl home from San Francisco at the time of the crash.

She and young Chadwick were also taken to Mary's Help Hospital. Miss Hartje was admitted with a broken left leg. Chadwick was released after treatment of multiple abrasions.

Rajewski was the son of Jack Rajewski, a San Francisco police inspector.

Volunteer Tutoring Continues

The South San Francisco Schools Volunteer Tutoring Program was started at Southwood Junior High School in 1968, after it was determined that some of the students were performing below their grade level.

The tutorial program was designed to help the underachieving students, by giving them additional help on a one-to-one basis. The tutors were volunteer parents and high school studnets. These volunteers spent time during the school day with a particular student, working with him or her in a weak area.

This year the program is again in operation at Southwood Junior High School. Alta Loma, Westborough, and Parkway Junior High Schools will be starting the program on their campuses. In order for these programs to be effective, volunteers are needed for all three junior high schools. It is hoped that a sufficient number of volunteers will be available for all four schools to have their programs in operation before the end of December.

San Bruno Man Robbed

Seems that a man can't even take out the garbage nowadays without being confronted by a gunman.

That at least is what happened to a San Bruno motel manager about midnight November 18 at 850 El Camino Real.

Albert Leo Violett told police he was relieved of $10 by a "hippie type" with long hair and a beard.

Violett said he had left the motel and proceeded to the rear of the apartment units to empty the day's garbage.

He told police his attention was distracted by a large vantype truck parked directly behind the motel when he was approached from the rear.

"Get against the wall and put your hands up," said the robber. "Take out your wallet. Open it. Stay there."

Scholarship Luncheon Set At Crestmoor

Mrs. Thomas AuClaire of Crestmoor High School's Parent-Teacher Association, along with Crestmoor counselor Delphine Hedlund and Kathy Starr, Student Achievement Commissioner, are making plans for the annual Crestmoor High P.-T. A. Scholarship luncheon to be held Thursday, December 4 at 1 p.m. in the Teacher's Lunchroom.

The luncheon will honor representatives from current and prospective local community groups who plan to provide scholarships for Crestmoor High School seniors.

Student speakers at the event will include Jerry Barclay, senior scholarship candidate, and Crestmoor graduate Jennifer Paul, now a freshman at the University of California. Miss Paul is a recipient of a Crestmoor scholarship.

Guests will be welcomed by Principal George Kristovich, and Edmund T. Walsh, San Mateo Union High School Assistant District Superintendent.

SSF Firemen Help Bury Phonograph

A passing motorist called firemen at 3:15 a.m. today in South San Francisco to tell them of what appeared to be a house on fire, and when firemen responded they found a half-buried and partially burned portable record player.

Captain Ed Simpson of South San Francisco Fire Department's Station 3 recited this pieced-together story:

Keith Crossan of 1007 Crestwood Drive apparently fell asleep with a lighted candle in a holder setting on the portable record player in his bedroom.

The candle burned and the wax melted onto the record player and eventually ignited the machine.

Crossman was awakened by the smoke and attempted to extinguish the fire by beating the flames with his bare hands.

That failed—Crossan suffered a first degree burn on one finger and second degree burns on both hands as a result, Simpson said—so Crossan wrapped the record player in a rug and heaved it out a window.

When the rug fell off in midair, the fire apparently reignited and the passing motorist either saw the flaming machine toppling out the window, or on the ground near the exterior wall of the house.

He called firemen, who, upon responding, found the record-player half buried in the earth of the backyard.

Firemen finished burying it.

TASK FORCE

TERCEIRA, Azores — U.S. Air Force Captain Thomas S. Gealta, son of Mrs. Maggie Gealta, 9 Scenic Way, Petaluma, is a member of the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service (ARRS) special task force that is supporting the Apollo 12 lunar landing mission.

Captain Gealta is a search and rescue pilot and aircraft commander at Lajes Field, Azores, and will be ready to assist the three astronauts in any way during earth recovery.

The highly specialized ARRS, with its worldwide network of rescue and recovery units and communications systems, support all manned space flights and plays a major role in the recovery of space equipment.

The captain attended Orleans (France) American High School and the University of Utah. He received his A.B. degree from San Francisco State College in 1959 and is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha.

His father is Cecil G. Gealta of Petaluma. Captain Gealta's wife, Beverly, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Beets, 83 Westpark Drive, Daly City.

Santa Claus Plans Visit This Week

Jolly Old Saint Nick, otherwise known as Santa Claus, will make his fourth annual visit Friday to South San Francisco as part of the Chamber of Commerce and Recreation and Park Department's "Santa Claus Tour" of SSF Shopping Centers.

The tour has brought smiles to the thousands of youngsters who have seen Santa in the previous year. This year's tour will be via a motorized cable car traveling in and out of local shopping center area for a three hours period of time.

The program starts at 10:45 a.m. on the steps of City Hall where Santa makes his grand entrance, then heads for White Front, Brentwood, McDonald's Drive-In, Southwood, Westborough Square, Buri Buri, Winston Manor and Sunshine Gardens Shopping center areas.

At each brief stop Santa will pass out candy to the youngsters he encounters. Santa won't be hard to spot as the unique cable car drives into each area, Christmas music blaring, and parks in a convenient location for all to visit with him.

Two Samaritans Holdup Victims

The reward for two intended samaritans in San Bruno early Wednesday was the loss of their wallets, credit cards and an estimated $156 in cash, at the point of a pair of guns.

Robert Lee Ballet, 42, of 24 Jody Court, San Mateo, and Laurence Charles Van Every, 40, of 2421 Princeton Drive, San Bruno, told police they were holdup victims at about 1:50 a.m.

The incident occured in a parking lot on railroad right-of-way in the 600 block of Huntington Avenue.

Ballet and Van Every told police they had left a bar at 676 San Mateo Avenue and were standing outside the door. They were approached by two men, identified as about 20 to 25 years old and of Mexican descent.

"Our car is stuck down here," said one of the suspects. "Would you mind giving us a push."

The victims told police they followed the pair with the intention of assisting them.

Once back into a remote area of the parking lot, at the rear of the bar, the suspects each showed a revolver. One was identified as a .38 caliber, the other as either a .38 or .32 caliber.

"Where's your money?" asked the robbers, as they motioned for the victims to lie on the ground. "Get down all the way. Stay down, don't look up, or esle. . . ."

Police said that at this point one of the suspects, apparently impatient with the way he was responded, struck Ballet across the left temple with his gun.

The victims returned to the bar to notify police.

THE "CLOTHES CLOSET" a philanthropic project of the South San Francisco Woman's Club is now going into its third year of existance helping to furnish clothes and shoes for needy school children in the area. Chairman Mrs. Fred Ingle announces that the "Closet" is open the second and fourth Thursdays of each month from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Clubhouse, 470 Grand Avenue. Anyone wishing to donate good useable children's clothing may do so by contacting either Mrs. Ingle, 565 Zita or Mrs. Alastair Finlayson, 214 Verano. Motor Quits, 3 Fishermen Pulled From Pacifica Surf

Three fishermen who had been drifting in their small craft since running out of gas just inside the Golden Gate Wednesday were pulled from the Pacifica surf by three policemen shortly after 5:30 a.m. Friday.

Apparently in good condition after their ordeal were Richard A. Bennett, 41, of 586 Ervin Court, Newark; John C. Bennett, 39, 3303 Mission Boulevard, Union City; and Gerald C. Crowe, 35, 4546 Bianca Drive, Fremont.

A Pacifica police department spokesman said the trio had left in the craft from San Leandro at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

After spending most of the day out, they began heading home late and the boat's motor ran out of gas, just inside the Golden Gate bridge, at midnight.

Their efforts to signal both boats and planes were in vain and the boat began drifting.

Then Friday, at ayout 5:15 a.m., a Pacifica resident, Jack P. Pelletier of 312 Francisco Boulevard, told police of seeing a flashing light west, off Mori's Point.

Patrolman E. O. Kendrick rushed to the beach and also reported seeing a small flashing light, just beyond a relatively calm surf.

Sgt. Anthony Guardino, at the end of Clarendon Road, saw the same light and directed the police dispatcher to call the Coast Guard.

In the meantime Guardino and Patrolman Bill Tafoya went to the beach to help Kendrick search for the craft — which, the victims said later, had been caught in the surf a short time after police began playing their spotlights upon the water.

Seeing the spotlights, the three men attempted to ride in the capsized boat. They were pulled out from the surf by the policemen and a short time later were relating their story and drinking hot coffee at the police headquarters.

And, in the meantime, a AAA tow truck was at work attempting to pull the craft up to higher ground.

Fire Damages Residence In Fairmont

Pacifica firemen battled a stubborn gasoline-fed blaze for more than an hour shortly before 8 p.m. on Friday in the Fairmont section of the city.

First damage estimates ran more than $12,000 to the two storey home and contents, which included a 1963 car parked in the garage.

The car was a somewhat rare Studebaker "Avante" with plastic body. Its owner, Roger McNeil, told fire investigators he had just brought it back from an automotive shop where it rad been worked on for the past four months.

McNeil said he parked the car in the garage at 284 Gateway Drive, Pacifica, and was walking into the upper section of the house when he heard a muffled explosion, turned ans saw the garage erupt in flames.

The fire completely destroyed the car, charred the garage and did heavy damage throughout the home, a fire department spokesman said.

Altough the exact cause of the fire was still under investigation, the spokesman said an apparent gasoline leak in the vehicle was touched off by a nearby water heater.

Cab Driver Is Arrested

A Pacifica cab driver was arrested on November 18 at San Francisco International Airport after he allegedly struck and grappled with an airport policeman who was attempting to issue him a citation.

Booked at county jail on charges of assault, battery on a police officer and resisting arrest was Daker H. Farraj, 36, a driver for the Pacifica Yellow Cab Company.

According to the policeman, Barnell Caldwell, it appeared that Farraj was attempting to solicit passengers in front of the Central Terminal, a violation of a contract which permits only the San Francisco Yellow Cab Compan to pick up passengers at the airport.

Caldwell said he started to write Farraj a citation for impeding traffic when the driver hit him with his arm and attempted to push him to the ground. Caldwell subdued and handcuffed Farraj and turned him over to sheriff's deputies.

'Restrained Inmates, Antiseptic Odor'

By BOB PETERSON

Sad, but true.

The group leaving San Bruno city hall for the San Francisco County Jail had a harder time finding the facility than some inmates have in getting out.

Led by Sheriff Matthew Carberry, the supervisors, grand jury members, police officers, press and television people made a cursory inspection during the noon hour last Tuesday.

Jail security, of course, was the main reason for the tour. But the only real physical feature available along this line for inspection was a look at the windows, soon to be webbed with more bars.

The inmates were understandably restrained and quiet. It was kind of like walking into an army barracks during an I.G. inspection.

Antiseptic odors filled the air. Going through the block door with television floodlights striking the yes, it was questionable who was inspecting who.

The first jaunt of the tour included full carpet treatment—even if the carpet was of durable paper, covering a recently refinished floor. Other floors, incidentally, showed the strains and scuffs of wear.

Entering a "typical" cell block, one couldn't miss seeing a book resting between cell gate bars. Its title? "The Coming Struggle for Power."

Jail's Security: Carrberry Fails To Assure Officials Of Improvement

By FRANK LAPIERRE

San Francisco's Sheriff Matthew Carberry failed to assure everyone present at Wednesday's joint meeting of San Francisco and San Mateo county officials that his jail near San Bruno is secure and that positive steps are being taken to correct past operational deficiencies.

At least two officials — San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald and Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust — pressed Carberry for definite answers concerning prison security, but were treated to a raft of rhetoric instead

"Whitewash"

Gust labeled Carberry's report on the facility as a "white-wash job" and said his council was "on pins and needles" wondering what was going to happen next at the jail.

An elderly Pacifica man, Christian Pederson, was beaten to death allegedly by an escapee of the prison, and his wife badly mauled, last spring. Since that time Pacifica has voiced strong opposition to the lack of security at the facility.

The Mayor invited Carberry to talk at reports recently compiled regarding the prison which charged "mismanagement."

Denials

Carberry denied his San Bruno jail was either mismanaged or unsecure. Nor was he "white-washing" his report to those attending the meeting at the San Bruno city hall.

Instead, the sheriff said emergency appropriations in the amount of $32,000 had been approved by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors to place strip steel bars over the present cell block windows.

He explained that the four men who escaped from the prison at the time Pederson was murdered had slid down blankets from the fifth floor tier after prying open the windows.

But Supervisor Fitzgerald said in his estimation $32,000 "doesn't sound like enough money." "It just doesn't sound like there is enough positive action being taken here," Fitzgerald told Carberry.

San Francisco administrative chief Tom Mellon explained that the amount "appears to be enough" to tighten security at the jail and went on to explain that the November 4 failure of a $1 million capital improvements bond issue did knock several prison items out of the picture — at least temporarily — and efforts are continuing to get needed funds.

Turning to Carberry, Fitzgerald, asked "You're satisfied that you have sufficient security (at the prison)?"

Carberry gave an affirmative answer and reiterated that his office has done "a good job of security and management" at the prison since being in office.

Are there plans to phase out the 35-year-old facility now surrounded by upper middle class homes? Supervisor (Mrs.) Jean Fassler asked?

"No," Carberry answered.

AFT Head Raps Letter By Rafferty

By WILL THOMAS

Robert Delzell, president of the Jefferson Union High School District's American Federation of Teachers Local 1481, says lowering of class sizes in grades four through six in the elementary school system would have "a better chance of success" than news releases.

Delzell, of Burlingame, who teaches at Terra Nova High School in Pacifica, was referring to State Superintendent Max Rafferty's recent letter to all school districts urging improvement of education's image.

The AFT leader here explained that Dr. Rafferty's letter pointed to a marked rise in grade one through three reading ability, but a continuation of the long decline in reading ability in upper grades.

Delzell acknowledged "public information is important and worthwhile, but I would like to suggest that what is really needed is a committee to improve the quality of education, rather than a committee to improve our image."

He went on to say that Dr. Rafferty's "emphasis on image may make progress more difficult, by obscuring the real problems that face our schools" and that "what we need today is a frank discussion of our problems, followed by a serious effort to solve the problems we have defined."

Delzell thought the state might make class size reduction in upper grades mandatory, as he said it is in lower levels.

Delzell has described himself as a longtime exponent of smaller classes in the high school district, and an almost constant demand of the AFT involves that issue.

In fact that particular demand is "number 5" on a current Negotiating Council agenda and Delzell said the need for it was "Most critical."

The item concerns a joint AFT-Jefferson Union High School District Teachers' Association demand for an April 30, 1970 deadline for "the completion of negotiations and signing of an agreement on a policy limiting the size of all classes."

Delzell and Supt. Edward Morgan clashed briefly this week over negotiation of several Negotiating Council items, with Delzell asserting that his representative on the Council relayed information that Morgan was refusing to negotiate on the class size and transfer policy items.

Morgan replied that there appeared to be a communications gap between the AFT council representatives and Delzell. He suggested Delzell listen to the tapes. Delzell indicated he didn't need to listen to the tapes and continued to insist his question of whether or not the board of trustees directly ordered Morgan not to negotiate was being evaded.

It was not clear whether or not Delzell took Morgan's lack of communication charge to mean there was lack of communication between Delzell and AFT's Council representative or between Delzell and Morgan.

Morgan said two points already had been negotiated, that one time deadline already had elapsed and law protected Delzell as to negotiation on the others.

Delzell and Morgan remained disenchanted with each other even after the discussion was brought to a halt by Board Chairman Albert Teglia.

Drug Suspect Is Booked

A man found lying on the floor of a South San Francisco service station men's room has been booked by police on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs.

Police responded to a call to 1695 El Camino Real at about 2:30 p.m. November 18 to find David Neuschwander, 21, who listed no address at the time of his arrest, lying on the floor.

The suspect was incoherent, said police. When aided to his feet, police found a hypodermic kit and other paraphernalia. He was taken to the police station and booked.

Swimming Pool Nears Reality

Westmoor's long-sought swimming pool moved nearer reality, though not totally assured, last week when Jefferson High School District trustees directed drafting of a proposed city-district joint powers agreement for financing and construction.

The vote to approve the initial paper work leading to possible construction of the $600,000 Olympic-size plunge was unanimous, although trustee Jane Powell, who also is chairman of the Daly City Recreation Department, abstained.

She did note, however, her favor of the pool.

A Westmoor student, Jim Musselwhite — noting he represented the student body of the hilltop campus—explained that student opinion on the plunge was divided.

Most of the students he had talked to, Musselwhite indicated, appeared to favor the project. A lesser number — him included — seemed to think the money would be better spent on "improving education."

He was told by Supt. Edward Morgan that Civic Center funds, to be used for the project, could not be spent legally on the type of things he referred to — reducing classroom sizes, increasing the numbers of counselors, for instance.

As a result of Musselwhite's assertions, Trustee Elio Fontana noted he would be "very hesitant" to make a motion or vote upon a proposal to build the swimming pool, if the students actually were "against" it.

It was at that point that Musselwhite offered that "fewer people" were against the project than were for it.

Superintendent Morgan said he believed Fontana's thoughts to be "valid," and he explained the trustees were not voting to approve the project but merely draft documents.

All of the paper work must return to the trustees for further consideration, Morgan pointed out, although his office, he said, was recommending approval based on studies conducted by the community over the past ten years.

San Brunan Is Cycle Leader

SAN JOSE — Young Mark Brelsford of San Bruno, coming off a successful outdoor campaign, has taken command of the American Motorcycle Association indoor shows at the Exposition Building of the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds.

As the brief winter schedule heads into the home stretch tomorrow Brelsford has taken over the championship point lead with 20. Races start at 7 p.m.

Mark, who missed the initial show of Nov. 1 because of a Southern California date, has won the past two main events.

Minorities Committee Blasts CSM Trustees

The San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees came under sharp fire November 18 from the committee designed to investigate student and community problems.

The committee, known as the District Citizens Advisory Committee for Minority Programs, had been slated for dissolution by College Chancellor Clifford G. Erickson. Since Erickson was not present at last week's meeting, the proposed dissolution was tabled until the next Trustees meeting.

"If you can't stand the heat, get out of the committee," Mayor Bernard Lycett of Daly City said after the meeting paraphrasing Former President Harry S. Truman.

"They think they're untouchable, and they're not," the Mayor who is a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee, added.

The Mayor and the Committee were reacting to comments by two board members which appeared to politely reject the idea that Trustees meet with the Advisory Committee in an attempt to establish better communication between the district and the college staffs.

Trustee Carl Ward referred to the late hour and the number of board meetings each year, indicating that he didn't feel there was time for the trustees to meet with another committee.

And Trustee Mrs. Eleanore Nettle said she had recently returned from a meeting in the midwest which quoted the trend for board meetings to be toward greater and greater dependency on separate bodies like the District Advisory Committee.

Mayor Sam Halstad of Portola Valley, who is also on the Advisory Committee, was not buying the Trustees logic. "Look at Mayor Lycett," he said. "He's the Mayor of a city of 70,000. He can't afford not to sit down and talk with citizens who want to see him."

Mayor Halstad told the Trustees flatly that "We're in an area where we have to listen to student grievances. This board is no longer going to be able to insulate itself from anybody."

"We've tried to represent students to you," he went on later. "We have not been successful in doing this. Your students are your constituency."

To a man, the Citizens Advisory Committee said that it had invited trustees to their meetings, but only Chancellor Erickson had come. The citizens praised the efforts and gains made by the college but said it was not enough.

What the Citizens Advisory Committee said they wanted was:

—Members of the trustees to attend Citizens Advisory Committee meetings.

—Immediate appointment for the post of Coordinator of Minority Programs.

Mayor Halstad said that the citizens probably would not oppose Chancellor Erickson's proposal that three college-connected committees be set up to replace the District Citizens Advisory Committee as long as they had good contact with the Board of Trustees.

For their part, the trustees invited the committee to attend as many board meetings as they wanted. Mrs. Nettle noted that the meetings were all open to the public.

Trustee Robert Tarver told the students in the audience, "You're listened to more than you think."

Earlier, there had been a brief verbal sparring match when one of the students of the College Readiness Program for no apparent reason, launched into a personal attack on Board Chairman Francis W. Pearson, Jr.

The chairman, understandably ruffled, ordered the youth to sit down. But the audience objected, and the youth continued.

It was the kind of thing which seemed to bring the argument into focus. The trustees have said that they think their "business is education and not welfare."

But the Citizens Committee claims that the trustees are responsible for the students welfare as well as their education.

Burglars Rob Home In San Bruno

Burglars in San Bruno literally took all the clothes off of a man's back November 18, except what he was wearing.

When Thomas D. Augusta, 29, of 213 East Avenue, San Bruno, returned home from work, he found all his clothes, as well as his wife's clothes, a TV, checks, jewelry, and a spray iron gone.

Augusta put the value of the stolen items at $1,800. Police said the burglar apparently broke in through the second floor apartment bathroom window, and left through the front door.

They were still trying to figure out, though, the reason the spray iron was taken. "Probably to remove the wrinkles resulting from the burglary," a patrolman offered.

Pacifica Man Is Injured

A 23-year-old Pacifica man suffered a broken left arm when he lost control of a motobrike he was riding and it became entangled with a one-ton truck on Sneath Lane in San Bruno.

Nelson W. Wolfchief Jr., of 524 Inverness, turned east onto Sneath Lane from Earl Avenue, when the bike started wobbling and went on its side.

Wolfchief was thrown off, but dragged about five feet as the bike continued to move along on its side, catching onto the left front fender of a passing vehicle.

Robert J. White, 47, of 811 Dell Road, Pacifica, was driving east on Sneath Lane as the bike came onto the roadway from Earl Avenue.

BOf A Moves Stocks South

Harlen E. Stocks of Pacifica has been named manager of Bank of America's Morgan Hill branch.

Stocks is a 0-year veteran of the bank. He had been an assistant vice president in Bank of America's San Francisco - San Mateo area administration the past two years.

He is a member of the San Mateo County Development Association, and the San Mateo County Leadership Council. He and wife Cenda have three children and reside at 37 Alviso Court.

CAM RANH DUTY

WITH U.S. COMBAT AIR FORCES, Vietnam — U.S. Air Force Airman First Class Julio J. Cagigal, son of Mrs. Laturnina Cagigal of 620 Manila Way, Colma, is on duty at Cam Ranh Bay AB, Vietnam.

Airman Cagigal, an ejection systems repairman, is assigned to the 12th Field Maintenance Squadron, a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. Before his arrival in Thailand, he served at George AFB, Calif.

The airman is a graduate of Mission High School.

NATO DUTY

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. — Airman Michael K. Boss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Boss of 200 Lincoln Ave., Daly City, has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the U.S. Air Forces aircraft mechanics course.

The airman, now trained to maintain and service reciprocating engine aircraft ans aircating engine aircraft and air to England, for duty with the U.S. Air Forces in Europe, America's overseas air arm assigned to NATO. Airman Boss is a 1968 graduate of Westmoor High School.

Computers May Assist Urban Planning

By BOB PETERSON

Imagine using computers to analyze land composition data on the Santa Cruz Mountains for the purpose of determining future urban planning.

It's really not too far-fetched.

A couple of gentlemen working under a Ford Foundation grant administered by the University of California at Berkeley explained part of the concept November 18 to several county supervisors.

Using the process, planners could take a map, for example, with grid co-ordinates on both the vertical and horizontal plane and determine the best ecological use for each individual square.

Co-authors of the plan Tito Patri and David Streatfield, and associate Tom Ingmire, got an enthusiastic response from Supervisor Mrs. Jean Fassler.

"I'm extremely interested," said Mrs. Fassler. "It will be invaluable to future planning."

The lady supervisor, who will become chairman of the board after the first of the year, told the trio they could make a more complete presentation to the board sometime after January 10, 1970.

Last week's 30-minute session was made at the Lyons Restaurant in San Bruno, prior to a scheduled session at city hall concerning the San Francisco County Jail in San Bruno.

As his audience chewed muffins and gulped coffee, Patri guided them through maps and charts, saying, "We are not trying to solve the social problems involved in planning."

Patri, who refers to himself as a conservation planner, also emphasized that they were not offering any specific urbanization plan.

"Our only interest is in exploring a new planning process that deals with land evaluation," said Patri. "It concentrates on the one issue common to all planning—the supportiveness of land."

The study, covering the area from South San Francisco to approximately the Monterey County line, is based on the inevitable fact that population is on the increase and people will have to live somewhere.

Through their process, in essence, all facts pertinent to the area, such as soil types, rock structures and fault lines will be collected and computerized.

"The character and strength of land varies," said Patri. "Our process will use this natural resource as an information base. There are some areas that are very durable, others that will cause a lot of problems, and a full range of qualities in between.

"We plan to study the strength and physical characteristics of the mountain range, including vegetation and wildlife."

After the information is compiled, a scale of values will be established which will supposedly spew out information that will show one area to be better suited for residential living than another.

The main thing Patri was interested in at this point was how the supervisors would react to his (brief) presentation.

"Those decisions are made at the political level," Patri told the supervisors, "so we have to find out how you view these problems.

COLIN GRIST has been promoted to manager of Bank of America's Buri-Buri branch in South San Francisco. He replaces Elvin E. Jones, who has become manager of the Portola District branch in San Francisco. He holds a degree in credit management from the University of British Columbia and has also studied at the University of Toronto. He also served for eight years in the Royal Canadian Air Force, where he was a radio officer.

Alarms Set For Schools

Four Jefferson High School District schools — they weren't identified — will be equipped with burglar alarms within a week, administrators informed trustees last week.

The disclosure came after trustee James Cooper pointed out several warrants for glass breakage at Daly City and Pacifica schools.

Cooper said it was to his "dismay and chagrin" that this type of vandalism — which amounts to some $50,000 annually — is continuing on district campuses.

Warrants for glass repairs in last week's packet amounted to $1,893.

Horse Tax Is Ordered

Owners of a "pleasure horses" will be taxed $10 annually for each horse they owned.

The county board of supervisors November 18 ordered the district attorney's office to prepare a resolution adopting the tax.

Action to adopt the new tax was urged by George M. Dean, president of the California State Horseman's Association and chairman of the California Recreational Trails committee.

Revenue from the new tax will be earmarked for construction of hiking and riding trails.

The law, which was recently authorized by state legislation, excludes racing and breeding stock.

Pacifica Seeks Bands

Teen-Co-Rec, sponsored by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department, is inviting bands in the area wishing to be heard by a large group of teens, as well as getting free practice time in an excellent facility, are to sign up with Dave Barry at the Recreation Department well in advance of the practice date. The practices are from 7 to 10 p.m. every Wednesday at Oceana Gym or on Thursday nights at Terra Nova gym. Teen Co-Rec is free with a Teen Club Card or application form.

D.C. Police Set Auction

The Daly City police department will hold a public auction of miscellaneous girls and boys' bicycles of various sizes on December 5.

Police Chief R. A. Petrocchi set 10 a.m. as the time of the auction, to be conducted in the police parking lot, Sullivan Avenue and 91st Street.

"All property will be sold for spot cash only," the chief said, "where and as is," without warranty.

Petrocchi said he "reserves the right to sell by lot, article, or both."

Pacifica Man Hurt In Crash

Charles G. Boll, 31, of 25 Shasta Lane, Pacifica, suffered a fractured right arm and facial lacerations Saturday night when his car struck a parked car.

Boll, according to a Pacifica police spokesman, struck the car on Waterford Street, in the Pacific Manor section of Pacifica, between the Early Bird Market and the Edgemar Club.

December Date For Festival

Jefferson High School's Booster Club announced a change in the date of its first event, "A Holiday Festival."

The affair will be on Friday, December 2, at 6 p.m. in the Jefferson High School cafeteria.

Dinner will be served for the whole family, including Mexican, Italian and Hawaiian food.

Music by the Jefferson orchestra and choral group will be part of the evening's entertainment. The Posada procession will be presented and Santa Claus will be there throughout the night.

For those who want to do their Christmas shopping a "flea market" will be open, with all kinds of gifts, foods and assorted merchandise.

SHOWTIME! Pretty Nancy Kingery, sophomore Westmoor High (Daly City) student "stole the show" Saturday night at Thunderbolt Hotel when she was featured in drum solo with Sal Carson band during Westlake Shopping Center's annual "Big Game Night" dinner-dance, which attracted some 220 guests. Home In Germany For Justwed Pair

(Staggs Photo)
THE WILLIAM VASILS (Carol Olsen)

Mr. and Mrs. William Steven Vasil (Carol Olsen) are making their home in Germany where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army. They honeymooned at Carmel.

They were married at St. Dunstan's Catholic Church in Millbrae by the Rev. Donald Pyne. A reception followed the ceremony at the New Southern Restaurant in South San Francisco.

Carol, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carl Olsen of San Bruno, chose a gown of ivory silk-faced peau de soie with Venise lace daisies as trim.

Sue Wegg was the maid of honor for Carol, and Karen Jukes, the bridesmaid. They wore ivory lace and moss green velvet gowns. June Iannacone was her cousin's flower girl.

Chris Vasil was the best man for his brother. Both are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Steven William Vasil of San Bruno. Ushering duties fell to Jim Waggoner and Henry Olsen, brother of the bride. Robert Iannacone carried the rings for his new cousin.

Language Block Program Slated

Parents of Abraham Lincoln School students will be afforded the opportunity of observing the new language block program in actual classroom demonstrations at the next unit meeting of the P-TA which will be held on Tuesday, November 25th.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in the multi-use room with an explanation by Mrs. Dorthy Malone, program coordinator.

'Hello, Dolly' Benefit Will Aid School Band Trip

The Performing Arts Parents Club of El Camino High School is sponsoring a special benefit performance of "Hello Dolly" on the evening of December 19 at the Century 21 Theatre in Oakland. The film musical will be opening in Bay Area theatres on December 17.

Purpose of the evening is to raise funds to finance a trip by the high school Stage Band to the Westphalia District of Germany where they have been invited to speak before civic and educational groups on a cultural goodwill tour. This is an honor that has been given no other high school music group in the United States.

The Stage Band is made up of more than 40 musicians including the singers and dancers who are part of the show. The band will make a brief appearance at the December 19 performance. Admission that evening will be by donation to the band's trip fund.

FIFTH ANNUAL 'GALLERY'

Mental Health Center Volunteers Set Show

Volunteers of the North County Mental Health Center and the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County with the San Francisco Artists Guild are busy finalizing plans for "Gallery — Art for Everyone" to be held December 5 at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

ART AUCTION time is near and KSFO Radio's Carter B. Smith will be returning to Daly City on December 5 to aid the volunteers of the Mental Health Association and the San Francisco Artists Guild in their "Gallery — Art for Everyone" benefit at Mary's Help Hospital.

"Gallery" got its start in 1965 when the volunteers and staff members in the then "new regional Mental Health Center" decided to hold a wine-tasting and art auciton event to raise funds for various projects and equipment needs by volunteers.

The 1965 event was not without its trials and tribulations. The volunteers had never been involved in a special event and the first event can only be termed "mildly successful."

In 1966, much wiser and more experienced, the volunteers again set "Gallery" into action.

Result: An overwhelming success.

The turnout by art enthusiasts, wine connoisseurs, city and county officials, mmebers of the medical profession and the interested public from throughout the county, was almost more than the Center could accommodate.

Funds raised that evening far surpassed the hopes of all concerned.

Now in its fifth year, "Gallery" is forced to move out of the Center to accommodate the attendance of patrons.

Mary's Help Hospital, 1900 Sullivan Avenue, Daly City will be the scene for this year's show which will begin at 7 p.m.

Carter B. Smith will auction the paintings of the San Francisco Artists Guild. Fans of "Peanuts," the cartoon strip created by Charles Schulz, will have an opportunity to bid on an original Cartoon Strip donated by Schulz and framed by Mackey Picture Frames.

Herbert Sommer, president of the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County, will present Five-Year Awards to Carter B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. James Mackey and Charles "Peanuts" Schulz for their continuous contributions to "Gallery."

Paintings by the San Francisco Artists Guild have been submitted by these artists: June B. Alley, Maritn W. Alley, Shirley Anderson, Lee Andres, Jeanne Babette, Jozo Bajurin, Helen Bardt, Vanna Beatty, Richard Bennett, George Bertuccelli, Reuben Bilbo, Tyyne Birkbeck, Lib Bradford, Mary Ann Fitzgerald, Murcell Bruno, Helen Conser, Trudi Douglas, Anne Griffith Eckels, Be Edmunds.

"Prelude to Christmas" will be presented by the Auxiliary for Hearing Research on November 29 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the California Golf Club in South San Francisco. Mesdames Larry Birkle, Jean Lees, and E. Fred Kraemer (from left) are working on the event which will feature Christmas decorations, art, needlework, toys and year 'round gift ideas. The sale will benefit the deaf and hard-of-hearing children at the ARCON Hearing Research Foundation in Palo Alto, a private foundation which receives no state or federal funding. Mrs. William Gallitero of Menlo Park and Mrs. Frank Brill of South San Francisco are co-chairmen of the event.

A Pacifica Woman Weds Eureka Man In Las Vegas

Doris Wieder of Pacifica and Elmer Van Dusen of Eureka exchanged marriage vows in a recent ceremony at the Cupid Wedding Chapel in Las Vegas.

The bride was attended by her daughters, Mrs. Steve Bencich and Joyce McKeever, and her son-in-law, Steve Bencich was the best man.

The bride wore a floor-length gown with a dark green velvet bodice with a light green satin skirt and a light green veil. Her daughters were gowned alike in red velvet and pink satin dresses. The gowns all were made by Mrs. Bencich.

Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas was the reception setting.

The new Mrs. Van Dusen also is the mother of Edward, Robert, Victor and Richard Wieder, and her husband is the father of Frank Van Dusen and Joan Davenport. They each have eight grandchildren.

(Joseph's Photo)

After a wedding trip along the California Coast and to Lake Tahoe, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gilmore (Lynne Weiner) are at home in Westlake in Daly City.

They exchanged marriage vows in a recent ceremony at Congregation B'nai Israel in Colma before Rabbi Solomon A. Shore. The reception took place at Simpson's Fireside Room in San Francisco.

Lynn, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Weiner of Daly City, walked to the altar with her father. She was attended by Marlene Weiss of Los Angeles.

Peter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gilmore of Milford, Mich., asked Jerrold Weiner, brother of the bride, to be his best man. Ivan Young seated the guests.

The new matron was graduated from Westmoor High School. Her husband studied at Dondero High School in Royal Oak, Mich., and is a member of the Air National Guard Reserve. He has a brother, Michael Gilmore.

Bruno Sorority Plans Dinner

Plans are being made for the Xi Lambda Sigma Exemplar chapter pledge dinner-meeting, December 2, at the new Southern Restaurant, South San Francisco, for Mrs. Daniel O'Connell of South San Francisc.

Mrs. Ryan Dowdy will give a short program on education carrying the theme of golden California living, based on the observance of California's bicentennial year celebration.

Sales for school record books and Beta Sigma Phi cook books may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Norman Jackson, 531 Beech, San Bruno, for the chapter philanthropic services.

The chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently heard a travel program presented by Mrs. Ralph D. Faver at the home of Mrs. Al Ellis, 290 Carlton Avenue, San Bruno.

DATEBOOK

Louanne Heath

Happy Thanksgiving everyone!

As difficult as it is to believe, the holiday season is again sneaking up on us and many jaunts and events are being scheduled early in December so that they will not interfere with the busy schedules of members later in the month.

Members of the Westlake Catholic Women will relax for one afternoon at least when they spend a "Day at the Races" next Wednesday.

According to Mrs. James Kelleher, publicity chairman for the Our Lady of Mercy group, anyone wishing to take part in the event should call for reservations immediately.

Mrs. John Loughran, general chairman, and her co-chairmen, Mrs. Anthony Phillips, Mrs. William Arata and Mrs. John Bresline, have arranged for chartered buses to leave from the parking area north of the Westlake Lounge at 11:30 a.m. next Wednesday morning.

There will be a no-host cocktail hour upon arrival at Bay Meadows with a buffet luncheon to be served between noon and 1 p.m. Racing will be on the agenda between 1 and 4 p.m.

The tickets, which cost $7.50, will entitle purchasers to round trip bus accommodations, admission to the Turf Club, buffet luncheon in the Coach room and reserved seats for the races.

To make your reservations call Mrs. Loughran, 756-7886.

IF YOU WOULD LIKE an oil painting for your mantel or if you have a friend or relative who enjoys art, plan to drop by the fifth annual Art Show and Auction being sponsored by the North County Mental Health Association Volunteers on December.

According to Mrs. Ernestine Tierney, publicity chairman for the event, this year's plans call for the sale and champagne reception to be held in the Cafeteria of Mary's Help Hospital beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Frank Cooper, chairman of the Mental Health Association Volunteers art show, in cooperation with Robert Pepper of the San Francisco Artist's Guild, has organized the evening into a three-part affair with the reception and show preview to begin at 7:30 p.m. with the auction to follow at 8:30 p.m. Special awards will be made to several persons whose efforts, over many years, have helped to make this annual benefit a successful venture during the third segment of the program.

Charles Schulz, creator of Peanuts, has donated another of his comic strips to the auction, Mackey's Picture Framers of Daly City, as in the past, will mount and frame the Peanuts strip to be auctioned.

According to Mrs. Tierney, all proceeds from this sale are used to help finance the work of the volunteers and to assist, in various ways, the mental health facilities in this general vicinity.

Early Christmas shopping is fun if you take advantage of the many boutiques sponsored by local organizations.

The members of the Holy Angel's Women's guild will present their annual holiday boutique on Sunday, December 7 in the parish hall, following each mass.

According to Mrs. John Lagomarsino, publicity chairman for the guild, Mrs. Robert Lapachet and her co-chairman, Mrs. Robert Padreddii, have arranged for a light brunch of coffee and doughnuts to be served to shoppers who wish to browse leisurely through the collection of fine decorative candles, homemade goodies and a large selection of craft items with which to decorate your home or tree at Christmas.

Still the topic of many parish conversations is the successful fall social which was presented recently by Mrs. Joseph Dillon and her co-chairman Mrs. Les O'Callahan.

The event, co-sponsored by the Men's Club and the Women's Guild, was made into an ehtra-special occasion by the elegant use of colorful tissue paper flowers and the lovely table decor provided by Ron Bryant and the caterers who made the salads into objects of beauty, according to Mrs. Lagomarsino.

☆ ☆ ☆

The members of the Pacifica Fifty-Plus Club will meet only once in December, according to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Arnold will be the host and hostess for the pre-Christmas "do" slated for December 9 at 10 a.m.

☆ ☆ ☆

It will be admission by invitation only for the festive Champagne Party and preview which will formally open the Art Guild of Pacifica's Tenth Annual Formal Art Exhibit on December 5, according to The Dirty Palette.

The general public will be cordially welcomed the following two days as the show debuts in its new location, the Long Table on Pedro Point, according to the chairmen Mrs. Shirley Scolini and Mrs. Patricia Wommack.

New Equipment Obtained For Spindrift's Barnaby

When the curtain rises on the Pacifica Spindrift Players' annual holiday production for "Children of all ages" entitled, BARNABY, the audience will realize that something new has been added in the way of equipment for the technical end of performances.

A new and very elaborate sound system has recently been purchased. Up until now, the Players have made do with borrowed portable equipment, record players, and tape recorders of very small effect.

However, BARNABY, written by Robert and Lillian Masters and based on the famous comic strip by Crockett Johnson, has some opportunities to demonstrate the quality of the new system.

Barnaby's imaginary friends cast spells and become electrical geniuses when they attempt to make telephones talk and radios ring, and doorbells talk.

The result is pure pandemonium and the new sound system will prove its worth. BARNABY with Marc Serrecchia in the title role will open for six performances on December 6.

Playing two weekends, there will be two performances on Saturdays at 2:30 and 8:00 p.m. and one performance each Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Tickets are available.

Luther Sprake is directing the production, which also includes in its cast: Darrel Greer, Kathy Hawkins, Kurt Russ, Bobby Rigling, Gary Nelson, Ginny Johnson, Eugene Merwin, Prince Serrecchia, Alexandra Brenke, Sherry Cleary, Dennis Krier, William Thaxton, Erich Rigling, James Jaeger, Cheryl Parker, Mike Parker, Desiree Vaughn Grant, April Ellis, Gary Grant Jr., and Bob Southworth.

This is one of the largest casts assembled for a Pacifica Spindrift Players production.

Fruitcake Time!

Good morning, good cooks.

When the Post arrived this morning I'm sure you scanned it for news, information and good buys. I'm sure also that you are in such a rush with the day-before-Thanksgiving doings, that you don't have time to visit with me today. So I hope you will put Sugar and Spice aside and look it over on Friday when you relax from your happy and bountiful Thanksgiving Day.

It's fruitcake time. Fruitcakes need to mellow and ripen in order to reach their full goodness by Christmas, so now is the time to bake them.

Personally I love to bake fruit cakes. I'm the first to admit that they require lots of work and time, but it's time well spent. The result of the cutting and chopping of fruits, the sifting and blending of spices and the mixing and stirring, is a cake that looks and tastes terrific and has great lasting qualities.

The lasting qualities for fruit cake was brought home to me forcefully this morning. We had just finished off the last delicious crumb of last years white fruit cake this week and when I gathered together my recipes and notes from last year's baking, I couldn't remember how my dark fruit cake tasted. So I decided to taste it.

It is wonderful. Do try it. Here's the recipe:

DARK FRUIT CAKE

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ cups sifted dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon allspice
1 cup shortening
1 ounce chocolate, melted
½ cup grape juice
¼ cup dark corn syrup
5 eggs, unbeaten
1½ pounds (4 cups) seeded raisins, separated, but not chopped
½ pound (one and three-fourths cups) currants
½ pound (1 cup) candied citron, cut
2 ounces (¾ cup) candied lemon peel, cut fine
¼ pound (½ cup) candied orange peel, cut fine
½ pound (1 cup) candied pineapple, cut fine
¾ pound (1½ cups) candied cherries, cut in halves
1½ cups blanched almonds, chopped
1 cup walnuts, chopped

In a mixing bowl sift together the two cups flour, one and one-half cups sifted brown sugar, one-half teaspoon each cloves, nutmeg and allspice and the teaspoon cinnamon. Add the cup shortening, one ounce melted chocolate, half cup grape juice and one-fourth cup corn syrup, three of the eggs. Beat 2½ minutes at low speed. Scrape bowl and beaters. Add the other two eggs and beat for 2½ minutes more.

In a large mixing bowl combine the 4 cups raisins, one and three-fourths cups currants, one cup citron, one-fourth cup lemon peel, one-half cup orange peel, and one-half cups halved cherries, one and one-half cups almonds and one cup walnuts. Add the batter and mix thoroughly.

Pour into prepared angel cake pan and bake in 275-degree oven about 3 hours or until cake tests done.

Remove cake from oven and cool on rack until pan is cool enough to touch. Remove cake, cool completely on rack. Remove papers wrap in cheesecloth which has been moistened with a liquor or fruit juice. Wrap in foil and store in cool place. Check once a week and redampen cheesecloth if it's dry.

PREPARING PANS

Grease the pan, then line with greased brown paper, allowing the paper to extend above the top of pan about an inch. This keeps the cake edges from getting too brown and gives you a handy lifter.

This excellent recipe for white fruit cake comes from the Western Beet Sugar Producers, Inc.

WHITE FRUIT CAKE

1½ cups candied pineapple, cut in chunks
1 cup cubed citron
1 cup halved candied cherries
1 cup cut up candied lemon rind
1 cup candied orange rind, cut up
1 cup golden seedless raisins
1½ cups slivered blanched almonds
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
¾ cup shortening
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
¾ cup milk
8 egg whites

In a large bowl combine the one and one-half cups candied pineapple, one cup citron, one cup halved cherries, one cup lemon rind, one cup orange rind, one cup golden raisins, one and one-half cups blanched almonds. Sift together the four cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, two teaspoons salt. Sift over the fruit and nuts and mix well.

Cream the three-fourths cup shortening and the fourth cup butter with the two cups sugar until fluffy. Stir in the combined fruit, nuts and sifted flour alternately with the three-fourths cup milk to make a stiff batter.

Fold in the eight stiffly beaten egg whites. Spoon batter into a prepared 10-inch angel cake pan.

Bake in slow oven (300-degrees) for 2½ hours or until cake tests done and top is firm to touch.

Serramonte

Larger Voice For Students

By SHARON HYMAN

THE FACULTY and administration wanted the students at Serramonte High School to have more to say in how the school should be run.

Because of this, students recently were divided up by classes to hear what their fellow students had to say on the drugs and smoking problems in the school. This lasted for a little over an hour.

At the end of the day all the students got together for 40 minutes for a little more of the same.

Godoy seemed to think the latter meeting was the better one, and this was the one that saw more accomplished, because "everyone was together."

Abe Evenich, the junior advisor, said these meetings brought the faculty and the students closer together.

There will be panels held to discuss modular scheduling. Evenich took the approach that these meetings, and future ones, will do a lot to make many of the problems present in most high schools an absolute minimum at Serramonte.

Kevin Casey, one of the teachers, said the meetings were interesting, although there was no definite solution at either of them.

He hopes there will be small committees in the future instead of the whole school.

The community, Casey says, may not be fond of modular scheduling, because they have not given it a chance and they lack knowledge on how it actually works.

EACH CLASS at Serramonte High School plans a variety of things they would like to do this year. The Freshman class has sold doughnuts and profited from that but they don't really have anything else planned until they have more meetings.

Murray Schneider is the Freshman advisor, and he wants these students in their first year of high school to really have "spirit" and enjoy themselves. Sophomores are just finishing their chocolate bar sale which has been going on for about three weeks.

They plan to profit quite well from the sale so they will have a lot of money for future activities.

Herbert Pierce is the Sophomore advisor. He said once the sale is over there will be more meetings to plan for the future.

The Junior class has been having meetings every week and they have many plans. They would like to sell candy canes at Christmas, a chocolate bar sale, such as the one the sophomores are just finishing up, will begin for the Juniors in January.

The Juniors also have ideas for a boat dance in the spring, a film festival soon, a snow trip later, and for graduation they may go to Disneyland.

Pacificans Attend Meet On Pageant

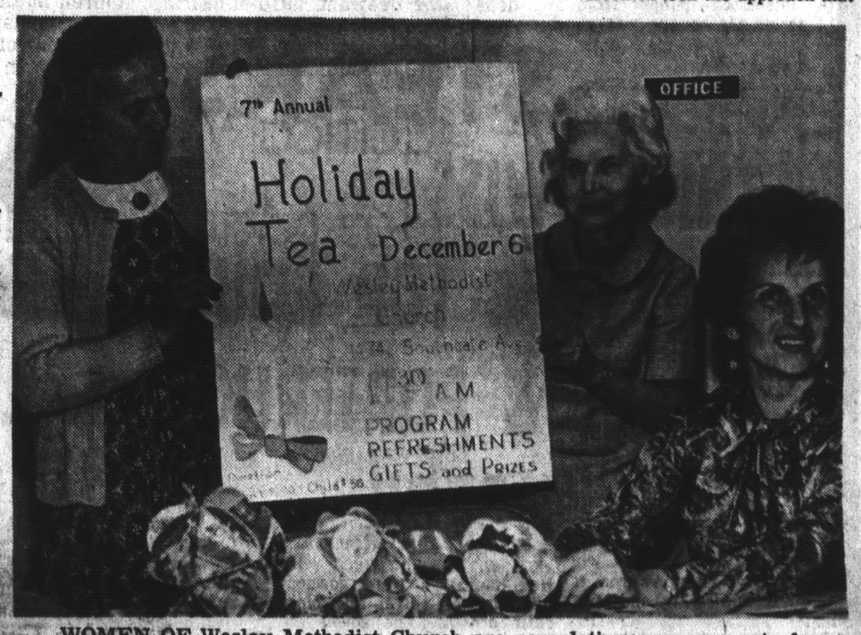
Miss Pacifica Pageant director Aubrey Lumley and Pacifica pageant committee members Mrs. and Mrs. Stan VanderHule, Mrs. and Mrs. Lowell McGrew and John Craig were among those persons attending a Miss California Pageant regional meeting last week in San Jose.

Fourteen other pageants also were represented at the meeting, according to Lumley.

The purpose of the meetings was to give local pageants assistance in setting up their plans for the 1970 program.

It is considered important that arrangements be completed early, since local pageants must be performed by April 25, 1970.

The 1970 Miss California Pageant will be held in Santa Cruz on June 18, 19 and 20, 1970, and will mark its 46th year.



WOMEN OF Wesley Methodist Church are completing arrangements for their annual "holiday tea and bazaar," and holding sign giving the date (December 6), time (11:30 a.m.) and other pertinent information are Mrs. Bill McGalughlin, Miss Virginia McKeag and Mrs. Harvey Williams. Eleanor Giusti of 9 Castillejo Drive, Daly City and Mrs. Judy Hubbard of 436 Lynbrook, Pacifica, have details. (Post Photo)

Skyline Schedules Spring Registration

Registration dates for continuing, returning, special, and new students along with a list of course offerings for the Spring semester — 1970 — at Skyline College are now set and available, James Wyatt, Dean of Students, announced.

"Students who plan to enroll for the forthcoming Spring term should contact Skyline College if they are new or returning students. Skyline College students currently enrolled are urged to contact their counselor to set the time and date for planning their new program," Wyatt declared.

The student-counselor appointment dates for continuing students listed herewith is based on units expected to be earned at the end of the Fall 1969 semester by the continuing student. Monday-Tuesday, Dec. 8-9: 31 or more units.; Wednesday-Thurday, Dec. 10-11: 16 to 31½ units; Friday-Monday-Tuesday-Wednesday, Dec., 12-15-16-17: 12 to 15½ units; Thursday-Friday, Dec. 18-19: 8½ to 11½ units; Monday-Tuesday, Jan. 5-6: 1 to 8 units.

Special-continuing students (those who take only one course and plan to register for next semester should make counseling appointments for Monday-Tuesday, Jan. 12-13.

New students to the college, returning students who left Skyline College during the fall term, and other special-returning students will register Tuesday, Jan. 20.

PROUD DOCTOR—The Australian hospital unit Dr. L. A. Smookler was assigned to in 1965 presented him with a beret during his recent visit to Vietnam.

Pacifica Doctor Tells Of Vietnam War Task

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The Vietnam War is a war of civilian casualties and not military, according to a mild-mannered Pacifica physician who has traveled the length and breadth of that strife-ridden country since his first visit in 1965.

"And yet I've seen no atrocities committed by our military on civilians such as those cases now being reported in nationwide headlines," Dr. L. A. Smookler told The Post.

The general practitioner said "such things could happen" but they were not the policy of those in charge of the controversial conflict.

Smookler's job while assigned to the Military Assistance Medical Group as a volunteer civilian doctor was to treat sick and injured civilians — regardless of their political leanings.

"We treated Viet Cong personnel the same as we would treat all the others — the best way we could with the supplies on hand," Smookler said.

Asked if he wasn't in danger of being killed by the VC while on some of his missions deep into the countryside, Smookler smiled, "Hardly!"

He said his stethoscope was his passport.

"That stethoscope hanging around a person's neck immediately indicated he was a doctor . . . and they (the VC) knew doctors were scarce in Vietnam."

His first tour of volunteer duty was with an Australian unit at Long Xuyen in the Mekong Delta area in September 1965. He was one of six physicians to "donate" their time for the sum of $10 per day. (They were expected to pay for their room and board, plus incidentals, from this amount.)

"If you were thrifty you might put a dollar a day in the bank," he laughed.

Often the military would let the doctors use a hospital helicopter to take them on their jungle rounds. Just as often they walked or rode in the back of a truck.

Why did he travel 10,000 miles to live like a jungle doctor when he had such a satisfying practice going for him right here in California?

"That's just it, the practice was too satisfying. Things were too routine, too pat. I was simply bored to death and when I read of what (the late) doctor (Thomas) Dooley had done in Laos and how I might help in Vietnam, I sent a letter right away to the American Medical Association in Chicago," Smookler said.

The first trip was a two month stint. The second stretched out to a full year in 1966 when he took over the program with some 56 physicians under him.

His most recent visit was in September when he re-visited some of the medical facilities he had helped establish.

He came back discouraged.

"The facilities are still there and I was satisfied with the surgical accomplishments. What was depressing is the lack of hygiene and other preventive measures in the villages.

"But what can we expect. Here is a country torn by war. We (the volunteer doctors) have been there only four years. It would be unrealistic to expect them to change overnight," Smookler explained.

He thought the program "did a lot of good" and he was going to do everything within his power to see that it continues — war or no war.

The "Vietnam War backlash" that is sweeping the nation today has apparently caused a serious cutback in volunteers for the program.

At last count only 17 doctors were working under the program in Vietnam and there wasn't any great rush to fill vacancies, according to Smookler.

"We need doctors badly," he said. "Statistics indicate that 98 per cent of all casualties in that country are civilian. There are few persons qualified to treat them."

Smookler, a native of Minnesota, took up his practice in California more than 20 years ago. He has a wife, Lorraine who is also a physician, and two sons: Michael, 23, and Gregory, 11.

Will he return to Vietnam?

"If my wife goes with me I'll stay for as long as possible. If she decides not to go I will probably visit for only a month or two next year," Smookler said.

Meanwhile Smookler challenges his fellow physicians to "get involved" with helping the sick and injured in Vietnam.

"I'm directing my challenge to those doctors who are tired of their hum drum everyday existence and are seeking personal satisfaction."

A Feature Potpourri

FRANK LA PIERRE

The Deal's Off!

INTERESTING TURNABOUT—Daly City police were "asked" by an official at Serramonte High School not to come on campus when the ambulance responds on a "bad trip" call. Seems the kids don't like to see police in their school and think they are coming to arrest the poor misguided youth that is under the influence of drugs.

For staying off the campus, school official(s) graciously allowed police to come into the school and disseminate information on drugs.

This worked just fine—for about two weeks until another kid went on a wild pill ride and Mercy ambulance attendants were called. It so happened an officer arrived at the school shortly after the ambulance and was treated to some "teen-age respect" from a rather large group of students. They grabbed his hat, filled it with sand and tossed it into the yard, amidst some vocal harassment from others standing by. As the medics rolled by with their patient, other youths grabbed the sides of the cart and rattled it.

The police department Serramonte high deal was called off and our latest information flatly says police WILL GO onto the grounds and into the school whenever necessary.

Put that in your zigzags and smoke it, kids!

JAIL HOUSE NOTES—Craig Broedus was in the crowd that toured the San Francisco Jail in San Bruno last week. Broedus is a mtmber of the Crime Committee that studied the facility a couple of months ago and called the San Bruno jail the worst of the two. He was a guest of Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust. After listening intently to all that Sheriff Carberry said about his "well managed" prisons, Broedus' smile turned to an outright laugh.

SORRY ABOUT THAT—We failed to mention last week that Daly City businessman Bill Sweeney was awarded the Chamber of Commerce's Outstanding Citizen of the Year plaque during ceremonies at the Olympic Club. Congrats to Bill and people like him who try a little harder to improve their community.

WATCH FOR NEWLY elected Chamber prez. Don Halverson to initiate a "Community Betterment Committee" around the first of the year. Halverson won't say what the goal of the Chamber committee will be, but we assume it will concern itself with Community Betterment. (How's THAT for using our old noggin?)

QUESTION DEPARTMENT—Who pays for local law enforcement units every time they are called out to round up an escapee from the San Bruno (San Francisco) prison? And how much do WE pay?

SHOWTIME GANG—You shoulda heard Westmoor High student Nancy Kingery on the drums at the annual Westmoor Shopping Center bash at the T-Bird in Burlingame the other p.m. She was the highlight of the festivities (loudest?) and odds are some "name" will soon net her for a telly appearance, PR man Gene Perry wagers.

RUMORS GALORE—This week the rumors are flying that the Westlake Shopping Center has been sold. The mystery is to whom and for how much? No one talking yet, least of all owner-manager James Trevor.

SAN MATEO COUNTY SUPERVISORS soliciting garbage from Peninsula cities, including Brisbane. They need the stuff to fill in that 800 plus acre shoreline dump site in Menlo Park — once they get the green light.

DAN CASENTINI writes from San Bruno that in the two short years he has lived near the prison (he moved from Daly City) he has had two of his cars stolen along with one of his kid's bikes. "Fortunately," writes Dan, "all were recovered with little damage."

JAMES HALLEY

Why A Furor?

In 1964, Congress passed the Economic Opportunity Act and in 1966 legal services were expressly included by amendment. Since that time, the form of legal services for the poor as funded by Federal grant has been the subject of great controversy.

To understand the furor, the terms of the act, and the nature of beneficial legal services should be considered. The 1966 amendments expressly authorized financial assistance to programs providing "legal advice and legal representation to persons when they are unable to afford the services of a private attorney, together with legal research and information as appropriate to mobilize the assistance of lawyers or legal institutions or combinations thereof, to further the cause of justice among persons living in poverty."

This language seems to contemplate all kinds of legal assistance for the poor. And in some areas, this has proven to be the case.

For example, the Atlanta Legal Aid Society, operating under office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) grant handled 4,400 cases in the last six months of 1966. It reported 1,911 cases involving consumer problems, sales contracts, wage garnishments and bankruptcy; 1,111 cases concerning divorce, annulment, paternity and child custody; 237 relating to landlord-tenant disputes, housing code violations and public housing and 64 cases involving juveniles, school cases and misdemeanors.

This sample shows a broad-based scope of reprseentation. "Guidelines for Legal Services Programs," a publication of the OEO, recognizes that there should be no arbitrary limit to the scope or type of civil legal services provided to eligible clients. Included is the comment, "Advocacy of appropriate reforms in statutes, regulations and administrative practices is a part of the traditional role of the lawyer and should be among the services afforded by the program."

With this, a problem arises. For the Legal Assistance Program is uniquely structured so as to prefer one kind of case, and to bring about a dereliction of responsibility in the broad area of full legal services.

There are three reasons for this. First, the OEO contemplates group administration, with the poor given a voice in the management of over-all programs. Community Action Agencies are more likely to seek the spectacular and newsworthy and are less inclined to emphasize the mundane details of day-to-day legal practice.

Second, this tendency is exacerbated by the nature of lawyers, and particularly these lawyers. They are the product of the most sophisticated legal training in history and many of the very best want to participate in the War on Poverty. Top men from Harvard, Yale, Michigan, California, Stanford and other law schools often eschew private practice and seek service in community offices. They understandably seek the excitement of landmark cases and want to have their part in changing the law.

Third, "OEO Guidelines" rejects the concept of a standard legal services program, going so far as to say: "Innovation is encouraged and is limited only by the ingenuity of the developers of a proposal." This, taken in conjunction with the nature of Community Action Agencies and of the lawyer employes almost assures an unbalanced program, as well as administration that has no set form and differs from state to state.

As a result, both the local Boards and employe lawyers seek constitutional questions, class actions, and esoteric writ or appeal work. The California story has been particularly stormy. The struggle between those advocating broad-range legal services and those seeking over-balanced emphasis on law reform has focused in San Francisco, Los Angeles, and the San Joaquin Valley.

The Economic Opportunity Act contemplates cooperation between the States and the Federal Government, and provides for gubernatorial veto. However, the right is limited. A Governor must disapprove the entire program or accept it all. Under these circumstances, intelligent participation on the State level has proven almost impossible.

To cure this situation, Senator Murphy has proposed an amendment that provides governors with a line item veto and removes the right of the Director of the OEO to override these vetos. His proposal has merit. Its adoption would enable the states to play a useful role in the maintenance of a balanced spectrum of legal services.

Any well-run private law office satisfies most of its clients' needs. The over forty million dollar budget for legal services for the poor should be devoted to the requirements of the recipients of this aid. Those paying the fee (the tax-paying public) have a strong interest in seeing that the most effective representation is available.

The Peace Symbols

There is a controversy running up and down the towns and through the schools of our area.

"What do the peace symbols mean?" "Where did they originate?" "How long have they been used?"

There are two peace symbols seen everywhere these days. One is the inverted fork or cross enclosed in a circle; the other is a picture of a dove — often enclosed in a circle.

According to a report distributed on Telegraph Avenue in Berkeley and communicated to some public libraries, the inverted fork in a circle is a symbol that was prepared in 1958 for the Alter Maston Peace Walk in England which was part of a campaign for nuclear disarmament. The symbol was created from an overlay of two letters, N for nuclear and D for disarmament, in the semaphore code.

The letters in the semaphore code are created by holding two flags or targets in positions that trained persons can interpret. Thus N is made by holding the flags down and 40 degrees out while D is created by holding one flag straight up and the other straight down. Apparently the circle had no significance other than a border for the overlay of N and D.

By 1961 USERS of the N and D symbol were giving the figure more philosophical meanings. One that has been widely circulated among peace workers and marchers holds that the central figure, that is the overlay of N and D or the inverted fork or cross, indicates a human being in despair while the cicrle represents the world. Thus the symbol is supposed to indicate a human being in despair within the world.

Apparently this symbol was created without reference to historic uses of either the central figure or the circle.

It is interesting to note, however, that Rudolf Koch in his Book of Signs writes that the inverted fork was used by medieval Christians to express salvation descending from above and spreading over the whole world.

Moreover, the inverted fork or cross is very similar to an ancient mark that was known as a crow's foot or a witch's foot. Often it was used to mark a witch's house and, therefore, may have had a connotation of scorcery although Rudolf Koch does not say so.

It is interesting to note that the inverted fork with the arms joined by a bar has been used to mean a woman and as such is found in signs that indicate families and family conditions.

More informaion can be found in Koch's book which was published in the United States in 1955.

The use of a dove as a peace symbol figured in the most recent South Vietnam election and is important in the United States during the debate on which course to follow in the Vietnam war.

Such cse can be traced back to ancient Egypt where the dove symbol meant love as well as peace. In the Biblical times the dove symbolized both hope and peace. Among the first Christians the dove was associated with the inner peace of the soul or harmony with God. It was also used as the symbol of the Holy Ghost in the Trinity.

In 1949 the bird of peace became a hostage in the Cold War with the communists adopting it "as the emblem of the Soviet sponsored World Peace Conference."

Today both sides in the Vietnam, North and South, conflict claim the dove as a symbol of peace.

In the United States during the Vietnam conflict the dove symbol means whatever you like from the name of a peace-lover to a cop-out, to a down right traitor. Whatever its meaning it is opposite the hawk that indicates everything from a patriot to a warmonger.

Whatever the meaning of the symbols — the dove, and the N and D overlay — they represent one of modern man's most hard-to-achieve goals — peace.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Post:

I would like to congratulate you for the great inspiration afforded to your readers by columns such as the recent one by James Halley, entitled, "Nixon's Viet Policy Is a Masterful Mix."

Mr. Halley has himself, masterfully dissected the President's Vietnam address, laying out in clear logic the basic realities of the truly complex problem of our involvement in the Vietnam struggle. In regard to the President's speech, as I sat and listened, I was filled with a great sense of pride and a greater sense of respect for our President. He was completely truthful with the American people, more truth than we have heard in a long time. I am convinced that his program of conditional withdrawal and Vietnamization of the war is the only realistic one and one which must be supported by all Americans.

Throughout the course of our nation's history, there have been grave periods of conflict and division among us. Miraculously, the American people have always been able to come up with the required leadership, a leadership that could unite the great majority of our people into a determined and forceful course of action.

And yet, even as I sat and listened, I realized that there would always be some that will not listen, will not see, will not believe. I speak of the small minority which by its own decision attempts to revoke the policy of a democratically elected government. The revolutionary minority who give no alternatives, no method of procedure and apparently no concern for the consequence of our actions. As Roger Heyns, chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley has said, "They are surer of what is wrong with where we are as a society, than of where we ought to go."

Unfortunately, the division among us is further complicated by yet another group, which has joined the militant minority. A group for which I am more deeply concerned. People who up to a short time ago, supported our country's position and would have never dreamed to publicly oppose it. This is a group of sincere Americans who are deeply motivated by their sense of opposition to war and injustice and who have been stirred to great heights of emotion in their call for peace, freedom and equality. BUT, I feel that they are backing the wrong group, at the wrong time and at the wrong place. They should join the ranks of the (no longer) Silent Majority and give unquestioned and determined support to our President. This is the surer and more positive way of obtaining that long sought after, peaceful conclusion of the war in Vietnam. By their very action of "innocently" following the revolutionary minority, they will prolong a war that they have indicated they deeply oppose.

There will always be differences in our nation, differences that should be sympathetically understood; intelligently discussed; and peacefully resolved.

That is the American Way.

FRANK SPADARELLA,
Daly City.

The 'Family Tree'

Q.: Could you give me information on advertisers who offer material on the "family tree" or "coat of arms"?

A.: To assemble on accurate report on either requires extensive, time-consuming research by a higly trained and well-paid professional, thus involving a considerable amount of money. The flat, minimal fee generally charged by promoters would not begin to cover the cost of the research required.

European law protects the use of a Coat of Arms limiting it to only the direct descendants of families originally obtaining a specific grant. In the United States, however, anyone may display any coat of arms he pleases without incurring penalty; therefore it is a matter of taste or an appeal to one's vanity or curiosity.

Q.: Under the new Truth-In-Lending Act may I cancel a contract for any purchase I make within three days after I have signed a contract?

A.: Regulation Z of the Truth-In-Lending Act was designed to protect a consumer from being rushed into a contract which might lead to his losing his home. The law provides that a customer may cancel a contract up to three business days after signing it, but ONLY if a lien, mortgage or security may be placed on his home. The customer must be advised of his right to cancel, following a format set forth in Regulation X. If he decides to cancel, a written notice must be sent to the company within the alloted time.

Q.: I called a TV repairman but before he arrived ye told him the TV problem had been solved and he left immediately. WQE receive bill to cover a service call. As he did absolutely no work we feel we should not have to pay this bill.

A.: You are responsible for the service call bill as you ordered the bill.

Q.: I was assured by the salesman that the used car I bought was in top shape. I soon learned that the car needed extensive repairs. The dealer will not make repairs or take the car back as the salesman had written "As Is" on the sales slip. Can I force the dealer to make an adjustment?

A.: No. "As is" means there is no guarantee. You take the car in its present running condition.

WHERE TO DINE THANKSGIVING

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Entertainment And Dine Out Thanksgiving Day

Bright Lights suggests an array of fine restaurants and clubs which will be offering special menus and entertainment for your Thanksgiving Day enjoyment. With such a variety, there's something to suit every demand, from intimate dinners for two to banquet facilities for small or large parties. Please, oh please don't wait until the last minute to make reservations. An early phone call will not only take the pressure off you and your guests, but will give restaurant and club owners a chance to make proper arrangements. Your Bright Lighter and staff, Virginia, Adele, Dick and Tex, wish each and all a joyous and healthy Thanksgiving.

—Lloyd Johnson.

The New Southern restaurant is only one of several successful enterprises of Reno and Julio Donati and Nick Sbarra. The trio also oversees a thriving liquor store-delicatessen (located just down the street from the South City restaurant), where your favorite liquors and mixes may be purchased for holiday entertaining . . . Augie Rosasco won't be around Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto (at Fisherman's Wharf) for the next few days, as he's off on his annual deer hunting expedition. We just hope he remembers that he's not supposed to "bring 'em back alive" . . . The several Stickney restaurants (except one) of San Mateo and the Peninsula, including the Shirt Tail will not be open on Thanksgiving Day in order to give the employees a day with their families. The Flamingo Stickney's, on El Camino in Palo Alto, will be open serving breakfast, lunch and dinners. The 24-hour restaurant is a popular hub for late-evening snacks . . . Lew Lehr's Steak House in San Francisco's Marina District is serving a sensational "new" cocktail, a Suntory Perfect Manhattan. The drink has clicked big and Lew and his staff are busy explaining its ingredients and high-points to customers.

MEXICAN DIXIELAND — Despite their outlandish Speedy Gonzalez-type costumes and handle-bar mustaches, Julius Wechter and The Baja Marimba Band, nine "synthetic Mexicans" who open in the Fairmont's Venetian Room tonight, for a three-week engagement, are sophisticated musicians.

Kostas Kaplanis, one of Greece's most famous bouzouki artists and composers, is now a regular member of the orchestra at the Balkan Village in Los Altos. Other members are Andreas Triplis, guitarist and singer; George Georgiadis, accordionist, and Stan Flores on drums. Star of the Show is dancer-singer Louis Gundunas, who was featured in the Broadway musical hit, "Zorba." . . . The Gold Platter in San Carlos, owned and managed by Ivan and Andy DeRossi, specializes in old-fashioned American dishes, which are all very palate tempting. Traditional Holiday entrees will be served on Thanksgiving Day from 3 p.m. . . . Fred Melger is the new chef de cuisine at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. Melger, whose culinary experience includes some of the country's most prominent hotels and resorts, has an excellent Thanksgiving menu planned for families — large or small. Early reservations are suggested . . Bruno Fava's popular Bruno's restaurant in downtown San Mateo, will not be open on Thanksgiving Day, but invites your patronage any other day of the week. Sunday family dinner is served from 3:30 p.m. Lunches served Monday through Saturday.

Several banquet rooms are available for your holiday entertaining in the dining elegance of Oreste's restaurant, convenient to Civic Center, San Francisco. You'll be impressed with the old world charm and comfort, the fine Italian cuisine and extensive wine list. Make reservations now by calling owner-manager Joe Piccinini . . . When it comes to an enterprising husband and wife team, Jim and Shelly Llewellyn, owners of the growing El Patio Mexican restaurants (Menlo Park and San Carlos), are way out in front. Watch for the opening announcement of their third location in San Jose . . . Was that a leading TV personality (former radio star) who was dining recently at the Greek Taverna in North Beach? There wasn't much light in the atmospheric club, but from where we were sitting it certainly looked like him . . . Meetings and banquets go together at the Villa Hotel.

Margie Could Draw Crowd Playing Jacks

Baron's organist, Margie Brandon, who is blessed with charm and talent to spare, has a tremendous following of loyal fans whose only complaint is the fact that there aren't enough seats at the organ bar. Margie, who plays to a full house every night, could draw a crowd even if she played Jacks. . . . It's crab season again, and Chuck Winstead, manager of Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, is featuring a Crab Cioppino dinner on Friday nights for all who fancy this toothsome delicacy. Served "all you can eat" Tuscano-style, the dinner includes six full courses and wine. Also on Friday's menu is Veal Birds and Fried Chicken. . . . Talk about the lunch hour rush! Chef Bill Marsh of the Blue Peacock restaurant in Millbrae's Kings Bowl says they serve on the average of 300 to 400 patrons from the hours of 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. "Fast service and good food is how to satisfy the business and professional people who dine here," said Bill . . . Horst Meyer, popular maitre d'hotel in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in San Francisco, sighed with relief after learning the decorated cake he was serving was not a birthday cake. To the amusement of the cake's recipient, songstar Ed Ames, Horst said, "I would have felt very foolish singing to YOU."

Sunday, Nov. 30, Bimbo's Testimonial Dinner Date

With no cover charge at Bimbo's Theater Restaurant, your family can see the exciting Sue Raney and Jerry Collins Show, enjoy a traditional turkey dinner and listen to the music of the Dick Foy Orchestra. The show is always appropriate to children, yet sophisticated enough for adults. Stars who have performed for Mr. Bimbo are expected to be on hand for the City of Hope's Testimonial Dinner honoring Mr. Bimbo as "San Francisco Man of the Year." It will be held Sunday, November 30, at the 365. Some tickets are still available for the expected sell-out. . . . To enable the staff of Bertolucci's to enjoy a holiday dinner with their families, the world famed restaurant will be closed on Thanksgiving Day. Friday, "Business as usual" is the word . . . When dining at Wilfried Blarer's Matterhorn restaurant on Broadway, Burlingame, enhance your meal with a wine of your choice. Chef Wilfried maintains a complete wine case of domestic and imported wines. . . . Lori's in Redwood City blasts off every Sunday with a jam session that will keep you rockin'. Drop in for the fun.

The Domino Penthouse continues its no cover or minimum charge policy. Leonard Garr and Jerry Sharkey lead the singalongs and comedy. The live nude model in the artist corner still commands a lot of attention — to say the least . . . Bruce Stevens is back at his familiar stand behind the bar at Augie's, a family-style restaurant in downtown San Mateo. Augie's will be serving family-style turkey dinners on Thanksgiving Day from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. Also selections from their regular menu . . . Vince Licata will give his staff Thanksgiving Day off, and the Licata clan will, no doubt, gather for a home cooked dinner . . . Celebrate the Holiday season in the fine banquet rooms of the financial district's Owl 'n Turtle restaurant, where owner Bill Varni is always on hand to greet you. Plan your office celebrations or group parties here, and get your reservations in early . . . A festive Pilgrim feast is planned for Thanksgiving at the Belmont Prime Rib, and at the Marina Prime Rib in San Francisco. Traditional roast turkey with all the trimmings heads the Holiday bill of fare, along with gourmet treats such as roast prime ribs, filet mignon steaks, and "Old San Francisco Style" veal scaloppine. The doors open at 12 noon in Belmont; 2 p.m. in San Francisco. Reservatinos are suggested.

FINE FOOD

THANKSGIVING DINING GUIDE

MUSIC FOR DANCING

Enrico Romano, The Apostle Of Anchovies

In the beginning it was a pizza house of humble origin. And its owner, Enrico Romano, said unto his patrons: "I'm going to give you the best pizzas anywhere in California." And lo, it came to pass that his Romano's restaurant did thrive, with diners flocking to Rockaway Beach from miles about in the manner of Wise Men following the Star. And it did happen that he was proclaimed throughout the Coastside as "The Baron of Pizzas" and "The Apostle of Anchovies."

So says history. Today, Romano's has grown from its simple beginnings into an Italian restaurant of the finest order. In actuality, it is three businesses in one — family-style dinners, pizzas to stay, pizza to go. All three aspects keep Romano hopping, so that he seldom strays far from the kitchen.

Take the dinners first. All the mouth-watering sauces are prepared by Romano and his mother, Enrichetta, so there is never any change in quality. The average dinner consists of Minnestroni soup (or salad, depending on how your taste buds are guiding you), plenty of French bread and the main course of veal, smothered liberally in a rich tomato beef sauce, augmented with spaghetti. Romano is continually expanding his menu because he knows he must shift with the times. "My patrons," he says, "have come to expect a certain quality, and I must continually live up to it."

Now consider the pizzas. They range in size from the ten-inch "baby" to the 14-inch "extra large," and come topped with the works: Italian sausage, salami, mushrooms, cheese, beef and onions, pepperoni, linguica, olives and anchovies — to list but a few of the ingredients.

Enrico Romano is a native of the Coastside and is widely known in the restaurant world as a racing car enthusiast and sportsman. Yearly, he treks to Montana to hunt big game, and has a number of trophies to show for his interests. He is also an avid fan of golf, and recently spent a few days at the Nugget and Harvey's Southshore green.

"One thing I pride myself on," he says, "is that I don't over-feed my patrons. I give them what I think is just the right amount of food. They always go away satisfied, vowing to return."

And you know — they do.

Glamorous Celebrities See Finocchio's Revue

Rosemary Clooney and a party of friends were ringsiders at Finocchio's recently, adding another glamorous name to the list of celebrities who never miss this colorful revue of some of the world's most famous female impersonators. You never know when you will see a notable in the audience at this spot . . . Although the Hillsdale Farmers Market will not be open Thanksgiving Day, you can be sure that things will be humming again on Friday, with all the International Kitchens serving a varied selection of your favorite dishes . . . If you happened by the Thunderbolt Hotel in Millbrae early this week and saw the parking lot filled with San Mateo County Sheriff's cars, it wasn't a raid, just the annual Sheriff's Ball . . . Pacifica Mayor Nick Gust reports that the movie people are moving into Rockaway Beach, taking advantage of the excellent weather. A film production crew was making a allegorical tale called "Endings" on his beach last weekend, complete with sound camera. "More and more movie people should take advantage of our rugged but beautiful beaches," says Nick. The film production company: Mobus.

Joe and Lou Ercoli hosted the Brisbane Lions Club dinner party (30 strong) at their popular South San Francisco Leaning Tower restaurant this week. In an adjoining banquet room a panty of 50 from the Lincoln Park Golf Club were also enjoying the "Tower's" Italian cuisine . . . Frank and Fanny Torres have enjoyed one of their finest years at Torres' Montara Beach hotel-restaurant. The smelt run was the best in a long while, and there is a brand-new lighting system that illuminates the beautiful beach . . . One of the most charming receptionists to ever greet a hungry diner will brighten your visit at the Castaway, Coyote Point. Clad in an Hawaiian Moo-Moo and wearing a dimpled smile, pretty Betty Cutietta greets and seats the continuous flow of guests who come from far and wide to enjoy the Castaway's exciting South Seas atmosphere and exotic food and drinks . . . A menu boasting almost anything you could wish for is featured at Maiden Lane's Iron Horse restaurant and cocktail lounge. Banquet rooms are available for festive entertaining. Open Monday through Saturday for cocktails, luncheon and dinner. You'll be impressed with the old New Orleans style decor.

Joe Ercoli

Blessed with an astounding range and perhaps the best enunciation of any singer on the current scene, pretty, talented and polished Sue Raney brings a full measure of "class" to the stage of Bimbo's 365 Theater Restaurant. Appearing twice nightly, including Sundays, Sue exhibits an actress' concern with lyrics in "Misty," the song which brought her wide attention. Comedian Jerry Collins has been held over on the two-week bill. Dancing to music of Dick Foy Orchestra . . . Each time a vessel passes through the Golden Gate the management at The Francisco (next to Pier 43½ at Fisherman's Wharf) announces over the loudspeaker system the name of the ship and its destination. Just one of many public services offered by General Manager George Skaff. . . . A gala holiday spirit is already bustin' out all over at Bruno's in San Francisco's Mission. Reservations, get-togethers, special dishes, even Eddie Plutte tossing in an occasional "Silent Night" on the 88's are all hearaling the approaching season. Too early? "Not at all," says Hostess Wiggles Nolan.

THANKSGIVING·1969

On this THANKSGIVING DAY we Americans have every reason to show our thanks to Almighty God for blessing us with all the abundance and the good fortune for being part of this great and most wonderful land called United States of America.

Only a year ago we chose our new President to lead us into new horizons and everlasting PEACE.

Having had the honor and privilege of knowing him personally over two decades, I can assure you that no one wants PEACE more than he. He is a man of action and a very proud American. He deserves the full cooperation of his fellow citizens.

Let's stop being a silent majority. Let's all get into the mainstream of becoming responsible and audible citizens. Let's back our government and our President so they can bring all our boys home with their heads high, with a feeling that they helped to maintain PEACE, not only in Vietnam, but all over the world.

Let's pray that Almighty God will help us, with an everlasting PEACE which is the sincere wish and desire of all mankind.

So on this truly AMERICAN HOLIDAY, we should resolve to keep AMERICA strong for moral and spiritual leadership which the whole world badly needs.

Always with gratitude and profound thanks,
George M. Mardikian

Bay Area's Rusty Draper Headlines Sahara-Tahoe

Personable Rusty Draper, who gained his fame in clubs around San Francisco, brings the sound of "swinging country" to the Juniper Lounge of Hotel Sahara-Tahoe through November 30.

Rusty Draper

Appearing with Draper is his protege, Suzanne. The Aspen Grove Steakhouse features nightly dinner dancing, while roadshow motion pictures are the main attraction in the High Sierra Theater . . . A great comedy, singing act, The Val-Aires, play smooth sounds in the lounge at North Lake Tahoe's Crystal Bay Club for dancing. A leisurely trip to the Crystal Bay Club, via excellent highways, is a great way to get away from it all. Open 24 hours a day, year round . . . Appearing in the famed Top of the Wheel Tiki Lounge at Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe, through January 6 is Ron Rose and Friend, featuring music for dining and dancing. An original Rose-Rouner composition by Ron Rose and Friend is the "In Thing." The Roberta Darin Show headlines in the Theater Lounge through December 10. Bodies & Soul through December 4 and The Esquires through December 7.

Dorothy Patterson plays piano and organ in Cal-Neva's Casino Lounge nightly, Monday through Saturday, from 7 p.m. until 1 a.m. There is now dancing in the Casino Lounge as well as the Terrace Lounge, where the Johnny Hamlin Trio entertains from 8 p.m. until 2 a.m. . . . As for European charm and hospitality, as well as unique cuisine, Tino's restaurant in San Mateo is an absolute must on your list of outstanding restaurants . . . The Sinaloa Mexican cantina remains a favorite spot of Hollywood celebrities. Owner Luz Garcia was honored by the presence of actress Lana Turner the other Saturday night, and the place was really jumping. "It must be all those jumping beans," quipped the curvy star . . . Mary Drake, manager of the Embassy Theater, is recovering from surgery at Children's Hospital in San Francisco. After recuperating at home, she will head for her dining delight, Doros in San Francisco . . . Tommy Harris is a very careful buyer of foods at Tommy's Joynt in San Francisco, purchasing only the highest quality for the lunches and dinners served seven days a week . . . The Delaware Street Hyatt Coffee Shoppe held a drawing during the opening celebration, a couple of months ago, with the grand prize being a trip to Las Vegas. Watch Bright Lights for the winner's name.

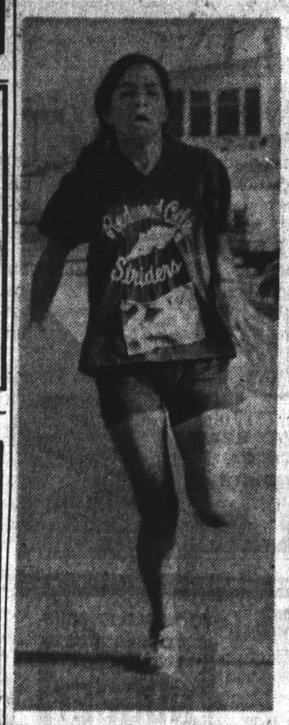
SIX-YEAR-OLD Mary Etta Boitano not only finished hill run — but placed second in women's division.



WOMEN'S WINNER in run was Mary Cortez of Redwood City.

HE PLACED a ways down the list, but Donald Thompson had the distinction of being the competitor traveling the greatest distance to Daly City. He's from Canada.

Aragon Frosh Win MPL Title

The Aragon High School freshman football team annexed the 1969 Mid Peninsula League Frosh championship last week with a 22-20 victory over Capuchino on the winner's field.

Chris Kohlbry proved to be the hero for the little Dons, scoring two touchdowns. Kohlbry tallied on a 60-yard pass play from quarterback Dave Matisi and on a 30-yard pass interception return.

Mark Chorpeaing made good two of three extra point attempts to provide the margin of victory. Aragon ended up with a perfect 5-0 record while Cap finished with a 4-1 mark.

Suicide Attempt At D.C. Jail

A sixteen-year-old San Francisco girl, booked into the Daly City Jail on petty theft warrants, tried to commit suicide yesterday by swallowing several hairpins and slashing her wrists with a sharp object.

FOURTH ANNUAL

Alvard Mejia Victor In D.C.'s Hill Run

Alvard Mejia, representing the West Valley Track Club, won Saturday's fourth annual Daly City hill-run, with a time of 42.11.

Placing second to Mejia — who competed in Mexico City Olympics — was 1967 hill run winner Darryl Beardall of tehe Marin Athletic Club, who was timed at 43.01.

Over 150 long distance runners competed in the 8.2 mile race which started in the Crocker Industrial Park proceeded to the top of Radio Road and finished in front of the Colma Intermediate School at 601 East Market Street in Daly City.

Runners from all over California and including Nevada took on the challenges of this rugged up and down hill course.

One of the runners in the race came all the way down from Canada to run. He was Donald Thompson from Edmonton, Alberta.

Little Mary Etta Boitano, age six years, amazed all contestants and spectators as she finished the race with a time of 68.07 minutes — good enough for second place in the Women's Division. Mary was representing the South End Rowing Club.

OPEN DIVISION — Alvard Mejia (West Valley Track Club), 42.11; Darryl Beardall (Marin Athletic Club), 42.11; Martin McCann (San Jose State College), 44.24.

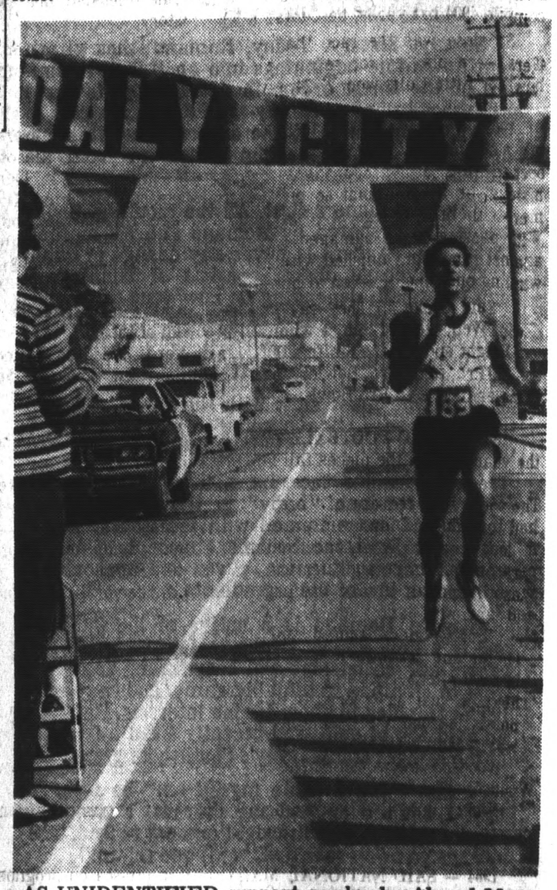
HIGH SCHOOL DIVISION: — Randell Lawson (Unattached), 45.28; Ed Brady (Modesto), 45.52; Jose Cortez Jr. (Sequoia), 46.20.

40 AND OVER DIVISION: — Pete Wood (Marin Athletic Club), 48.35; Pete Mattei (NCSTC), 51.01; Robert Biancalana (Marin Athletic Club), 51.19.

WOMEN'S DIVISION: — Mary Cortez (Redwood City Striders), 62.20; Mary Etta Boitano (South End Rowing Club), 68.07; Sandra Jones (Unattached), 70.25.

DALY CITY RESIDENT DIVISION: — William Posedel, 50.40; Mike Tracy (Westmoor High School), 54.17.

Mayor Bob McLennan from Brisbane, Vice Mayor Frank Pacelli and Councilman Ed Dennis from Daly City assisted in distributing awards and honoring the winners of the race.



AS UNIDENTIFIED support applauds, Alvard Mejia becomes the 1969 winner of the fourth annual Daly City Hill Run. He was one of 150 long-distance runners participating.

The Wrapup Of Capsule History Of The 49ers

By LE PACINI

(The last in a three part series on the capsule history of the 49ers.)

1961 — BUCK SHAW said that Shotgun wasn't good basic formation because it depended solely on pass (and most real football experts agreed), and probably no one knew it better than Hickey.

As he said in training camp when pressed for prediction by reporters, "After all is said and done, blocking an tackling is the answer to it all." But Hickey had to do something and did have momentum going from '60.

He therefore told his troops they were capable of winning (even Shaw had said, "they have the stuff to go all the way with it (Shotgun) . . ."), traded Tittle off to Giants for someone named Lou Cordelione because Tittle wasn't Shotgun "type," instituted praying in pre-game huddles, and turned 49ers loose with their trick offense.

Early success, sparked by alternating Brodie, Waters, rookie Billy Kilmer, Shotgun amazed football world, especially 49-0 win over Detroit, following on the heels of 35-0 romp of L.A. When Shotgun finally stopped, Brodie took over T, became most effective passer in league and manipulated best running attack in division (Smith 5th, Kilmer 18th) behind fine offensive line to compile 2904 net yards, best total in NFL history.

So close was the race that going into last game of season, 49ers were playing for second place tie, plus trip to runner-up bowl, or fifth. Colts won, 27-24, giving 49ers 7-6-1 and fifth.

1962 — HICKEY SHELVED Shotgun completely, called 49ers his "best club." lost only one exhibition, and when season opened, was hit with probably worst year for injuries in 49er history, as at one point seven regulars were out, including Kilmer with broken leg, St. Clair with damaged Achilles tendon. With passing game damaged and defense demolished, especially against run, 49ers finished with first losing season since '56 (6-8), winning only one of seven at home.

Said Hickey, "They say you have to have the breaks to win. Well, we had 'em, a whole hospital full of them."

Bright spots were Smith's 907 rushing yards, Woodson named as All-Pro and Pro Bowler, and Nomellini, Ted Connolly, St. Clair and Dove to Pro Bowl.

1963 — "PRO FOOTBALL 1963," said of 49ers, "This could be the year that all the pieces fall into place. . . ."

The pieces fell into place, and when they landed they broke. The 49ers suffered one of worst seasons a pro football team ever had to endure. Didn't win an exhibition contest and finished 2-12 in league play as second consecutive year of injuries to key personnel (Kilmer and Mertens out all year, Brodie out most of season) and an ill and off-form J.D. Smith demoralized squad and fans, who hadn't stayed away in such numbers since '56.

Forty-Niners scored only 198 points, worst mark in league and second worst in 49er NFL history. Were also last in total offense, passing, next to last in rushing. Were last or next to last in every defensive department, allowing 391 points, second worst in their history. Total offense allowed was second highest in all-time records.

Woodson made All-Pro; Davis, Matt Hazeltine, Smith and Woodson went to Pro Bowl.

Hickey quit after third league game, 45-14 lashing from Minnesota, and replaced by assistant Jack Christiansen.

1964 — SAID NATIONAL MAGAZINE in pre-season prognostications: "If Jack Christiansen can keep his players out of the hospital the San Francisco 49ers should show some improvement over their woeful finish in 1963."

Christiansen couldn't keep players out of hospital and improvement was like difference between being executed by electricity or gas, as 49ers won one exhibition, had 4-10 league record and another last place finish.

If 49ers had any luck, it was their injuries were concentrated in offensive team, and were able to present one of league's tougher defenses, which kept them from humiliation and assisted greatly in big upset over Green Bay. Other bright spots were emergence of promising rookies Dave Parks, George Mira, Dave Wilcox, Davis, Woodson, Hazeltine, Parks and Krueger to Pro Bowl.

Vic Morabito died of heart attack in May.

1965 — SELDOM in pro history had any team made such a turn-about. Prior to opener, Sports Illustrated called 49ers, "the most improved team in the league." Vince Lombardi had said, "The 49ers could be a surprisingly good team because they have been building up or some time in quality players." For three years, however, those quality players had languished much of the time in x-ray rooms. But as '65 opened, 11 men on squad had been first draft choices, nine second or third, and 28 selected in first five rounds. Doubtful if any NFL squad had ever had so many high draft choices on one roster. And for once, they were virtually all relatively healthy and made Sports Illustrated and Lombardi prophets.

The 49ers finished only in fourth place in tough Western Division with 7-6-1, but did it spectacularly if erractically. Opened season with 52-24 win over Bears, largest number of points ever scored by 49ers team in NFL (Chicago later bat them, 61-20 .... most points ever scored against 49er team.) After that, things got exciting.

Individually, Brodie was NFL's best passer as he led in attempts, completions, percentage, yardage, TD passes and made All-Pro and Pro Bowl. Parks led in passes caught (80), yards gained (1344 — fourth highest in NFL history), and tied for lead in TD passes with 12, made All-Pro and Pro Bowl.

1966 — STARTED as failure and became anti-climatic as 49ers got off to slow start, losing all exhibitions and first three league games. But got going near mid-way point with strong passing game (only twice had a 49er team completed more passes), became one of only two teams to beat eventual world champions Green Bay, and were in battle for second until season finale, when Baltimore dumped them for second time, giving them 6-6-2 mark.

Parks, John Thomas All Pro; Parks, Rock, Howard Mudd, Bosley, Willard and Wilcox to Pro Bowl.

1967 — BOTH TITTLE, now assistant coach, and Brodie predicted at least division title, and with virtually same starting team returning from flashy '65 season, they seemed justified. Things promising with fast 5-1 start, but improbably double knee injury to Thomas seemed to start rash of injuries, especially knee damage.

Parks played little, Willard had worst year with leg and foot hurts, Davis, with bad legs, couldn't punt and had worst place kicking year, and Brodie had poorest year since '60, as his now legendary pre-season holdout seemed to full sharp-ness.

1968 — NEW COACH Dick Nolan in from Dallas with compli[illegible] and tough master reputation, and 49ers, still assimilating, off to slow start with 1-5 practice and 2-3 league slate. But [illegible] of last nine (7-6-1) and with best defensive [illegible] early '60's.

Pick-up Cliff McNeil led league in pass receiving, Willard had best year, finishing second in rushing with 967 yards (best for 49er back since '59), and Brodie led league in attempts, completions, yardage, was second in TD passes (22), and was overall third ranking NFL passer. Mudd, McNeil, All-Pro; Mudd, Alexander, McNeil to Pro Bowl.

1969 — TITTLE on record with local press in July that he's willing to bet 49ers will be title contenders, and ever-optimistic press book says: "More than at any time in the past five years there is a strong, almost tangible feeling of optimism . . . for the 1969 season. . . ."

Daly City Rec's City Champs To Be Determined Friday

The second annual "Gobbler Bowl" will be presented by the Daly City Department of Recreation, Parks and Maintenance, Friday at 1 p.m. at Panorama Schoo..

The National Football Division winner — Westmoor Park — will meet the American Football Division winner — Robertson School — to determine the overall City championship in the Daly City sixth grade and under Flag Football League.

Westmoor Park leader Russ Jordan was confident as he took his team through last minute drills and was overheard telling reporters, "Nothing can stop our Green Machine."

However, this didn't seem to bother Robertson School leader, Jeff Tilley, as he responded with "They may be big and quick, but they're gonna have trouble stopping our Secret Weapon."

Other Recreation Department athletic activities:

Daly City playgrounds are now taking sign-ups for a Junior High School 7th and 8th grade Girls Basketball League which will be sponsored by the Daly City Department of Recreation, Parks and Maintenance.

All teams will be organized and coached by recreation leaders, with league play scheduled to start December 13. All games will be played on Saturdays.

The Daly City Youth Athletic Association Boys Basketball Leagues, sponsored by the Daly City Department of Recreation, Parks and Maintenance, and the various youth athletic organizations throughout the City are now being organized.

League play is open to all local boys in the fourth through eighth grades who live or attend school in Daly City.

All league games are scheduled to start the first Saturday in January, with tournaments being conducted during December. All teams planning to enter league competition must register with the Daly City RDP&M by December 10.

All boys interested in playing in this league but, as yet, are not on a team, can contact the athletic directors from the following organizations to inquire about team openings:

Police Athletic League, Rich Brewer, 755-7474; Better Youth Association, Jim Pedersen, 755-1713; Our Lady of Mercy, Gabe Adami, 992-1167; Holy Angels, Walt Bugler, 755-6297; Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Ted Reed, 755-2667; St. Andrews, Caesar Sabbatani, 756-0951; Hunts Donuts, Jack Murray, 992-3502

The Daly City department is taking sign-ups for its annual winter three-man Adult Basketball League scheduled to start December 29.

The league this year will be broken into three divisions: Open Division, Under Six Foot Division (all players on team must be under 6 feet), and a Daly City Employees Division.

All games will be played on Mondays from 7 to 10 p.m. in the War Memorial Community Center Gymnasium.

All men 18 years of age and older are eligible to participate. Teams may register from this league by obtaining the necessary roster forms from the Daly City Recreation, Parks and Maintenance Department, completing the form and returning it to the Recreation Office, 134 Hillside Boulevard, prior to the deadline date December 12.

There will be a $10 team entry fee in this league. A meeting will be called for all team managers after all roster forms are in. Entry fees will be collected and rules will be discussed at this meeting.

Mustang's Effort Is Best Of Year

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Sports Writer

One could hardly blame Capuchino football coach Vince Marchi for staring off into space for a while last night dreaming of what the 1969 season might have been.

What 1969 turned out to be was a nightmare for the Mustangs and their rookie head coach.

Rated near the top among county prep squads, Cap started like the champ many predicted it would be. But key injuries to personnel that were irreplaceable threw the Mustangs into a tailspin from which they never recovered. That is, until last Friday night.

With the whole squad healthy and together for the first time since the opening game snap, Cap easily handled Mills, 32-0, to insure at least a second place tie by the time the season ends Thanksgiving Day. And the personnel most evident were those who had missed part or most of the season with injuries.

"There is no doubt in my mind that if we had had a healthy team all year long the Mid-Peninsula League football race would have been over right here, tonight, on this field," Marchi said walking off the Burlingame gridiron.

"This week we had a full squad at practices and after just two days we knew that this could have been a championship season. A lot of other teams have had "could-have-been" seasons, too, but it hurts more when it hits so close to home."

Quarterback Keith Hernandez (who sat out three-quarters of the loss to San Mateo with a sprained ankle) guided the 'Tangs on each of their five touchdown marches and scored the first and last tds himself. The junior lefthander hit on nine of his 12 attempts for 156 yards.

On the first Cap series Hernandez hit Craig Dalzelle and Paul Maples for long gain passes to set up his own five yeard quick sneak for the score.

Dalzelle, who caught five passes for 90 yards, looked the strongest he has been all year since being limited to defensive action with a kidney bruise in the first game.

Maples, likewise, made his finale a successful one catching two tosses for 38 yards, punting the one time Cap had to and intercepting one George Skell's pass.

"There's another example in Maples," Marchi added. "We lost the game to San Mato because we didn't have a kicker. Losing Dalzelle on offense for about six games also hampered us."

Senior Dennis Haag scored the second Cap td on a one-yard plunge after a 70-yard drive. Fullback Jeff Callicotti was the main ground-gainer on that drive with 26 yards rushing.

Then, after a cold and bitterly-long halftime, Hernandez again found Dalzelle on a 32-yard pass over the middle to set up Cliff Ritchie's five-yard scoring run making it 18-0. Ritchie added the fourth td from three yards out just into the fourth period and Dave Adornetto, another basket-case with a fractured ankle until last night, kicked the first of his two PATs.

Daniel Webster Flag Football team won their last game of the season beating M. P. Brown, 14 to eight.

The Madmen won three of their last four games, mainly due to the help of some outstanding fifth graders.

Brian McVeigh, Jack Dorn, Steve Weston, Dennis Lee, Brian Michelson, Scot Kimball, Tim Noonan, and Mike Collett will all be eligible for the league again next year.

To guide and balance this group of fifth graders, there were six sixth graders, Paul Flemer, Frank Coclough, Steve Baccei, Craig Bloom, Ken Segrue and Matt Desmond; all six showed tremendous leadership during the season.

The team is now in the process of voting for the players' awards, to be announced next week.

Daniel Webster's seventh and eighth grade Girls' Basketball team have looked good after their first two weeks of practice. This week they are choosing a team name and captains for their first practice game. Five boys have signed up for coaching jobs!

During Christmas vacation there will be a Webster volleyball tournament for all junior high school boys and girls. Teams will be picked Co-Ed and awards will be given to the winners. Sign up now with the director!

M. P. Brown flag football team lost thier last game of the season to Daniel Webster. The final score was 14-8.

Girls who live near M. P. Brown School and are in the seventh or eighth grade can sign up for the Daly City Recreation Department Girls's Basketball team.

It's 'Holiday Festival Week' In D.C.

Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett has proclaimed the week of December 8-15 as "Holiday Festival Week" and urged all citizens to support activities of the Jefferson High School Boosters Club during that period.

The Boosters Club is sponsoring a Holiday Festival on December 12 with entertainment and refreshments, including marachis, the high school band, choir, pozada, Polynesian and Mexican food.

Tickets will be sold at the school and are good for entry and refreshments.

All money received will go toward assisting the student body at Jefferson to obtain new band uniforms and for use by the student body for certain other projects.

Benefit Ticket Sales 'Brisk'

Brisk ticket sales for the near-premiere of the film version of "Hello Dolly" have been reported by Ron Acosta, chairman of the Performing Arts Parents Club for El Camino High School in South San Francisco.

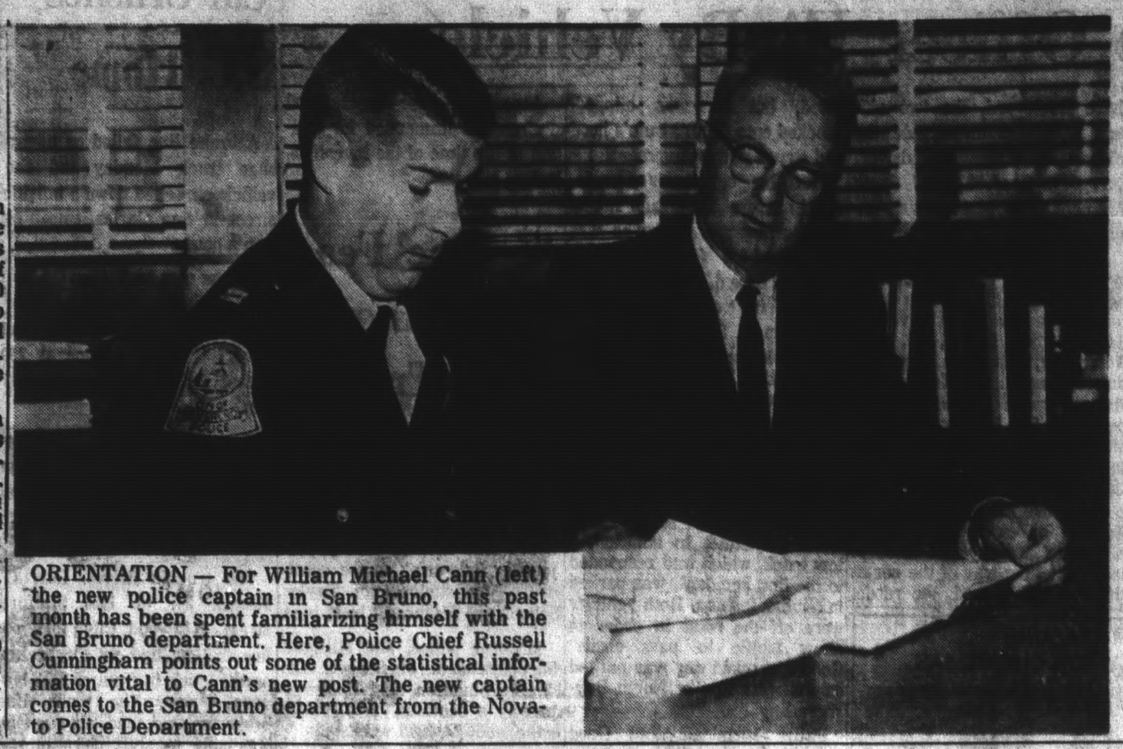
The parents club is sponsoring the benefit showing of the film starring Barbra Streisand December 19 as a means of raising funds to support a trip to West Germany next spring by members of the El Camino High School stage band and other performing artists from the school.

The benefit showing of "Hello Dolly" is scheduled for December 19 at the Cinema 21 Theater in Oakland, only two nights after the world premiere of the film in New York City.

Acosta said tickets are being offered to Peninsula residents in return for contributions to the band fund, the only way tickets are available. A contribution of $100 earns two $50 tickets; a $50 donation will earn the donor two $25 tickets; and a $20 gift will be honored with two $10 tickets. Tickets in the $10 section are limited.

Acosta said the response to a mailing of nearly 13,000 has been "gratifying." He encouraged those who want to take advantage of the ticket offer in recognition of gifts to the band fund to send their contributions promptly.

The money being raised by the non-profit parents organization will be used for transportation for the group of nearly 40 high school boys and girls from the award winning band, vocalists, dancers and actors to entertain at West German schools



ORIENTATION — For William Michael Cann (left) the new police captain in San Bruno, this past month has been spent familiarizing himself with the San Bruno department. Here, Police Chief Russell Cunningham points out some of the statistical information vital to Cann's new post. The new captain comes to the San Bruno department from the Novato Police Department.

Planning Aide Named In S.S.F.

Bill Timmons, a former employee of Southern Pacific Company, is the new planning assistant for the city of South San Francisco.

Timmons replaces Frank Van Sleen, who resigned at the end of September to accept a director of planning position at Littleton, Colorado.

A graduate of San Jose State, Timmons spent 11 years with Southern Pacific, the last five as an appraiser.

He and his wife of 18 years presently live in San Francisco.

Pacifica Fire Chief Retiring

Pacifica Fire Chief Ed Greer has announced that he will take a disability retirement, as of January 2.

Greer, who has a long history of back trouble, was the City of Pacifica's first fire chief — holding that post since incorporation in 1957.

Mateo Officer Hit By Vehicle

A San Mateo policeman suffered multiple injuries Monday night when he walked into the path of an automobile while he was investigating another accident.

Officer Lawrence J. Mackey, 28, was taken by ambulance to Mills Memorial Hospital, San Mateo, where he was listed in satisfactory condition this morning. He suffered a broken finger, contusions and lacerations of the head and legs.

According to the police report, Mackey and his patrolman partner, John Keeney, had responded to the scene of a single-car accident underneath the Peninsula Avenue overpass shortly after 11 p.m.

After parking their patrol car on the east side of North Bayshore Boulevard, the two officers began to investigate the mishap in which the driver, Larry D. Good, 23, 715 South Fremont, San Mateo, was unhurt.

As Mackey walked from east to west across North Bayshore, he apparently did not see (until too late) a sports car driven by Jeraldine C. Lange, 26, 1881 Newcastle, Los Altos. She was driving south on North Bayshore between 15 and 25 miles per hour. She told investigating officers that she saw Mackey too late and tried to avoid hitting him.

She drove her car into the officer at an estimated 20 miles per hour. Mackey had tried to leap out of the way of the car at the last split-second, the report noted, but he was clipped, knocked onto Good's auto's hood and struck to the pavement.

Miss Lange, who is a registered nurse at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, and who was returning from her just-completed evening shift, stopped her car immediately after impact. She was not cited.

A possible contributing cause of the accident, the report continued, may have been the fact that Kenney and Mackey had parked their patrol car in some shrubbery off the road and its flashing warning lights were probably not easily visible to someone driving south along North Bayshore. In addition, a tow truck, which had responded to the first accident, was parked in similar fashion. Both vehicles were off the road in order to allow traffic to pass easily.

Police surmised that Good had failed to negotiate a turn on Coyote Point Drive and had careened into the chain-link fence next to the Bayshore Freeway. When he finally managed to stop his car, Good had torn out about 150 feet of fencing, police said. It was estimated that Good had been driving at about 55 miles per hour prior to the accident.

According to the report, Good was not recommended for citation at the time of the investigation.

'Zodiac' Fear Curtailing Field Trips

This was revealed Monday when San Mateo County Courthouse was notified that a projected "field trip" to the courthouse, by students of Taylor School in Millbrae, had bten

Millbrae police, and Millbrae Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ed Muehlhausen said this was merely a continuation of policy established several weeks ago.

Dr. Muehlhausen said police had requested keeping to a minimum, or eliminating, field trips outside the district.

He said today's cancellation would be in line with the policy, although he suspected any risk in a trip down the Bayshore Freeway to the courthouse, would be "minimal."

Car Crashes S.C. Home

No one was hurt when the San Mateo County Scavenger Company truck crashed into the Robert C. Arnold home at 790 Sunset Drive, shortly after 11 a.m.

Firemen, who were called because the vehicle broke off a gas meter and an electrical panel box, estimated damage to the home at $3000.

The truck's driver, Luis G. Martin, 34, of 1956 Stafford Street, Redwood City, told police that he had set the brakes on the truck in front of 2521 Nanette Drive. The brake line broke, he said, and, although he was able to shift down into a lower gear, he was unable to stop the vehicle. He guided downhill and over a curb into the corner of the garage at the Arnold home.

LEGAL NOTICE — LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all labor, tools, materials, equipment, transportation and services required for Alteration Work for Central District Branch Office of San Mateo County Department of Health and Welfare, 274 W. 20th Avenue, San Mateo, California.

2. Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications, and contract documents prepared therefor now on file with the Purchasing Agent, County of San Mateo, Office Building Annex, Redwood City, California.

3. Drawings, specifications, and contract documents may be examined and copies obtained at the office of the County Purchasing Agent, Redwood City, California, upon deposit of $25.00 for said documents, which deposits will be forfeited if the Contractor fails to return the drawings and specifications in good condition within ten (10) days of the bid opening date.

4. A complete set of drawings, specifications and contract documents may be examined at the Office of the San Mateo County Director of Building Construction, County Government Center, County Office Building, Redwood City, California.

5. Bidders are responsible to see that they obtain a complete set of plans, specifications and contract documents covering the work upon which they submit a bid.

6. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished and bound in the specifications and in accordance with regulations, as set forth in the General Conditions, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for ten per cent (10%) of the bid as noted in said General Conditions.

7. Bids shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo at the Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California, on or before the 9th day of DECEMBER, 1969, at 2:00 p.m. and will be opened in public in the Chambers of said Board of Supervisors at or about 2:00 P.M. of that day in said Hall of Justice and Records.

8. The Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, reserves the right to reject any and all bids, alternate bids, or unit prices and/or waive any irregularities in any bid received.

9. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty days after the date set for the opening thereof.

10. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is being performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute this contract which will be awarded the successful bidder.

11. It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor, and upon any subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the said specific rates to all laborers, workmen or mechanics employed by them in the execution of this Contract.

12. The prevailing rates se determined are as follows and are based on an 8-hour day, 40-hour week, except as otherwise noted. Existing agreements between the Building Trades and the Construction Industry groups relative to overtime. holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.

13. WAGE RATES: The Board of Supervisors has determined and has had published the rates of prevailing wages in the County of San Mateo, in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to perform the contract. Said prevailing rates are set forth on listing, copies of which are set forth in the specifications for the work, in the offices of the County Clerk, Purchasing Agent and Director of Building Construction. Crafts and rates per hour for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to perform this contract are listed under Wage Rates, Instructions to Bidders.

14. A Bond will be required for the faithful performance of the contract in amount of not less than One Hundred Per Cent (100%) of the amount of the bid, and a bond will be required to guarantee the payment of wages for services engaged and all bids contracted for materials used in the performance of the contract in an amount of not less than One Hundred Per Cent (100%) of the bid.

'Our Flag Is The Greatest'

Brisbane police are sporting a new red, white and blue jacket patch that proclaims "For God and my country."

"It is a reminder to officers and citizens alike that our flag is the greatest and that we are defenders of that flag," police chief Bill Beard explained.

Located on the right side of the chest—directly across from the official badge—the patch immediately attracts the attention of all who see it.

Although Brisbane is the first department in the state to sew on the emblem, the program started 18 months ago in Macon, Georgia, and has since spread to Florida and the east coast.

According to the chief, several policemen were assaulted in Macon during routine patrols, but after the emblems were included on the uniform the assault cases subsided considerably.

The patches have been credited with this decline in assaults on officers, Beard said.

Chief Beard said he had contemplated getting the patches for his men some time ago "but we didn't have the money budgeted."

American Legion Post 473 commander Glen L. Jones and legionnaire Gordon Yule came forward and donated the patches to the department on behalf of the post.

Asked if some people might label the officers "right wingers" because of the emblems, Beard replied, "We are solid American citizens—not right wingers. We simply love our country and are not ashamed to show it."

DALY CITY High School students learned plant identification and tabulation of field specimens during a week-long education in the outdoors. This unique program, called the "Wilderness School," faces the threat of extinction for lack of supporting funds.

Outdoor Program May Be Scrapped

A high school teacher who has developed an outstanding outdoor educational program — the only one of its kind in the state —is currently fighting to save it from being scrapped.

Reno Taini, biology high school instructor at Jefferson's Daly City campus, said that his 3-year-old program faces extinction next year when federal ESEA funds will be sliced off at high school levels and reallocated to grade schools. At present, Taini's program functions on a modest $10,000 a year.

Begun as a pilot program in conservation education, the outdoor school is now established as a workable model which other high schools in the state want to emulate. But, ironically, their desire is ill timed.

Nevertheless, Taini is determined to do something about saving the program both at Jefferson and potentially on a state-wide level. Beginning this month, he will appear before a group of government agencies, educational organizations, service clubs, community agencies and the news and television media to enlist whatever help he can get to sustain the program. Included among these groups will be the California State Advisory Board for Conservation Education, the California Natural Resources Board, the Sierra Club, the District Board of Education, the California Conservation Council, and the Lions and Rotary clubs.

The Jefferson High "Wilderness School," as it's called, has been praised by both regional and national educators as having great educational value in providing youngsters the opportunity to learn experiences outside of the regular classroom.

In a typical week-long trip, teachers and students share in the responsibilities necessary to daily living in a camp situation. "From this," said Taini, "comes a realization of and a respect for the rights of others."

Additionally, the activities are designed to complement content areas of the regular school curriculum. Mathematics, English, art, the sciences, and the principles of social organization are given practical applications which are long remembered.

A subsidiary benefit of the "Wilderness School" has been the securing of 28 jobs for its youthful participants as camp counselors, recreational aids and forest fire fighters during last summer. According to Taini, this aspect of the program has such potential that private camps and government agencies from throughout the state have requested a demand for students in 1970 that triples last year's figure.

Taini, an ardent conservationist, believes that using the outdoors as a laboratory will ultimately teach the generations to respect and preserve the nation's ever-diminishing natural resources.

"And like the remaining wilderness," he remarked, "this practical and working outdoor program itself faces extinction unless general concern can be generated to save it."

Taini expressed the hope that both publicity and fund raising could check its demise in time. He urged anyone who believes in the values of the Jefferson "Wilderness School: to write to Representative Paul McCloskey at 141 Borel Avenue in San Mateo, urging the Congressman to use his influence to extend federal funds for the school's outdoor program.

Three Men Escape Injury In Crash

Three men escaped uninjured from a crash-landed plane at San Francisco Airport November 18, seconds before it burst into flames.

The pilot, McKinley Clark, 165 Acacia Avenue, San Bruno, told Deputy Sheriff James Gramken that he was coming in for a landing on runway 28-left at 3:48 p.m. when air turbulence—a "wing tip vortex" — whipped the twin-engine Cessna 310-H out of control and caused it to crash-land off the runway.

Clark and his passengers, Desmond T. Lewin, 130 Thiers Street, Daly City, and August J. Viale of Martinez, scrambled out of the plane seconds before it caught fire.

The plane was owned by the S&Q Construction Company, 48 Linden Avenue, South San Francisco. Viale is general superintendent of the firm, Lewin is office manager.

Clark said the turbulence which normally trails behind a big plane was drifted across his runway from a jet using 38-right, which is parallel.

The seven-year-old plane, used for company business trips and hangared at San Francisco International, was virtually demolished by the crash and fire.

Arrest Car Theft Suspects

Daly City policeman John More arrested two car-theft suspects early Sunday after an alert woman saw them trying to force their way into a neighbor's car on Palisades Drive.

Arrested was Barry A. W. Showers, 18, of 977 Shotwell Street, and Gregory L. Cook, 20, of 723 Shotwell Street, both of San Francisco.

BURNT WRECKAGE of a light twin-engined business plane which flipped over on runway 28-right at San Francisco International Airport yesterday afternoon when a jet was using a parallel runway. Pilot McKinley Clark of San Bruno and two officials of the S&Q Construction Company, who were his passengers, escaped unharmed. (Post Photo by Ed Briscoll)

CUB SCOUT PACK 360 in Daly City, as one of its recent activities, took a Saturday trip to Marineworld, and the lads seemed to be all smiles as they moved from one attraction to another.

Dune Buggy Races Sunday

The National Buggy Association's fall dune buggy races will be held at the Brisbane Championship Speedway, across from Candlestick Park, Sunday.

Beau Hickory, association administrator, said the final races are scheduled for 12:30 p.m., with practice and qualification heats being run from 8 a.m. until noon.

More than 60 cars are expected to participate in the Sunday race — the last of the season, Hickory explained.

Somewhat like motorcycle trials, he said, with events patterned after them, the dune buggy course is one of many obstacles — water, mud, jumps.
